THE LAST CARAFFA.

Pontiffs of the Sixteenth Century.

ROME OF THE RENAISSANCE.

The Brilliant Luxury and Splendor of the Old Mistress of the World.

In the middle of the sixteenth century the Pope was not only the most powerful, but also the most splendid of European sovereigns. Rome was again the capital of the world, and, compared with her, the Paris of the day was but a city of barbarians. That great Pope, Alexander the Sixth, who knew everything and dared everything, and his bold and ambitious son, Cæsar Borgia, had brought back to the old mistress of the world all the brilliant luxury and all the audacious licentiousness of the Pagan Imperial Court. Succeeding the unscrupulous Borgia, Julius the Second, exchanging the tiara of the Pontiff for the helmet of the trooper, entered Perugia sword in hand. His successor, Leo the Tenth, avoiding the abnormal vices of his predecessors, aspired to be a second Augustus, worshipping the Muses and averse to nothing which the Graces did not blame.

Under such rulers the morals and manners of the Rome of the Renaissance were those of the antique world. Society in its height of mental training, in its refinement of tone and style, in exhaustless wit and in the union of all arts and sciences, with all vices and lusts, was thoroughly pagan. Around the central sun of the Pope moved dazzling satellites, the Cardinals and Princes of Rome, vying with each other and their sovereign in the splendor of their courts. Thus the highest flow of reckless magnificence inaugurated the reign of Paul the Fourth.

To the gay and polished Pontiffs who preceded him, Pope Paul the Fourth stood in striking contrast. Although a scion of one of the noblest families of Naples, chamberlain to Augustus, and archbishop under Julius and Leo, Giovanni Caraffa ascended the papal throne with all the manners of a shepherd of the Abrazzi. Rough, rugged and violent, of a harsh and inflexible temper, and of inexorable piety, he attempted to enforce a reform of the existing abuses of the Church. In his bigoted fervor he left the care of his temporal duties to others, and, relying upon family loyalty, chose for his ministers his nephews, Don Carlos, Don Juan and Don Antonio. With these brothers in league, one controlling the treasury, another wielding the military power, and the other holding the keys of the Vatican and dictating access to the Pontiff, the family of the Caraffas was all powerful.

Rome ushered in the year 1559 in regal splendor. The first of January is a great feast day of the Church, and while the Pope was engaged in the holy office of the Celebration of the Circumcision, the servants of Don Juan Caraffa were privately preparing a magnificent entertainment for Don Carlos, the Cardinal. That Venus might not deem herself neglected, there was invited to meet the Cardinal one Martinaccia, the most famous and beautiful women of Rome.

In the circle of courtiers which surrounded Don Juan, now Duke de Palliano, none were gayer nor more admired than the Duke's favorite, Marcello Capeccio, a young Neopolitan of noble birth. This fair and ingenuous youth was the favored admirer of the fascinating Martinaccia and was also deeply in love with Donna Violante, the wife of the Duke de Palliano. Marcello on New Year's evening visited the house of Martinaccia and finding that she was at the Duke's banquet was beside himself with rage. Gathering a band of his bravis with reckless bravado he invaded the Duke's apartments and forced the unwilling Martinaccia to return to her house.

On the following morning all Rome was ringing with exaggerated accounts of the brawl at the Duke's palace, although the powerful means of enforcing silence possessed by the brothers were all employed to hush the scandal and to keep it from the ears of the stern Pope. But the watchful enemy of the Caraffas, King Philip of Spain, induced the private chaplain of the Pope to reveal to the uncle the outrageous conduct of his nephews ever since their accession to power and the culminating indecency. The Pope's fiat, upon investigating the course of his nephews, was: "I dismiss them forever." The three nephews were despoiled of all their dignities and banished from Rome.

Marcello, followed by the hatred of the Caraffas, fled to the little hamlet of Gallese. The Duke de Palliano, on his banishment from the capital retired to the miserable village of Soriano, and following his own pleasures, consigned his wife Donna Violante to an establishment apart from his own. The isolation was irksome to Donna Violante and she received with delight a visit from Marcello. Gallese was but two miles distant from Soriano, and afterwards during the long summer months Marcello's visits were frequent.

Diana Brancaccio, maid of honor to Donna Violante, with her tawny red hair and dark eyes was a creature of fiery passions and furiously in love with Domitiaro Formari, a gentleman of the Duchess' household. But, being related to the Caraffas, marriage without the consent of the Duke was impossible, and this he had refused. In the visits of Marcello, Diana saw a golden opportunity, and she became his ally and urged on his mad passion for the Duchess. If Donna Violante could be betrayed into an indiscretion, Diana would naturally be made her confidante. To her confidante, Diana argued, the Duchess could deny nothing, and the Duke, prevailed upon by the Duchess, would grant his consent to the marriage with Domitiaro. The scheme mislaid through Domitiaro who suddenly disappeared without word or warning. Diana conceived a suspicion that Donna Violante was accountable for the flight of Domitiaro, and in her fury at the loss of her lover, suspicion grew to a craving for revenge. She sought the Duke and revealed to him the noonday walks of the Duchess and Marcello through the grounds and surrounding woods, and the evening meetings on the heights overlooking the sea. The Duke was unmoved and saw no harm. Then Diana contrived that the Duke should discover Marcello in the private apartments of the Duchess, an arrangement to which Donna Violante was an innocent and surprised party. The Duke was now convinced of the truth of Diana's accusations, and the Duchess and Marcello were conveyed to prison.

The infamous proceedings, designated in the archives of the town as the trial of Marcello Capeccio for grave offenses to his lord, took place in the vaults of the prison of Soriano before the Duke de Palliano, the Count d'Aliffe, a brother to Donna Violante, and Antonio Torando, a friend of the family. Beside the cord and rack and other implements of torture stood the Mayor of Soriano and his hirelings ready to do the atrocious biddings of their masters. Marcello was tortured until brain could stand no more and in his madness, and speechless, he scrawled the infamous lie: "Yes; I have betrayed my lord. Yes; I have dishonored him." As the feeble hand laid down the pen the Duke raised his dagger and plunged it again and again into the body of Marcello, who fell dead at his feet. Then turning to Diana, who had witnessed the awful result of her blind passion, the Duke cried: "Take the reward of thy treachery!" Seizing her by the hair he bent her down and cut her throat from ear to ear.

The Duke shrank from adopting extreme measures towards his helpless wife. This leniency was due partly to an awakening belief in her protestations of innocence and partly to the fact that she was about to become a mother. Unfortunately for the Duchess, the Pope died. The interregnum between the decease and election of a Pope was then a time of unbridled license and dark deeds. The Cardinal welcomed this opportunity for completing the vengeance of the Caraffas. He urged the Duke, by voice and by letter, to avenge the honor of the family by the death of Donna Violante. In a like manner urged the other brother, Don Antonio. The mild course of the Duke was ended by the grave report that Donna Violante was in communication with the Duke's foe, Antonio Colonna. The Duchy of Palliano, with its towns and villages, had been taken from Colonna by the Pope to bestow upon Don Juan Caraffa. The fatal rumor further said that the Duchess had agreed to deliver to Colonna fortress of Palliano, the governor of which was her friend, upon the conditions that Colonna should protect her from the vengeance of the Caraffas and prove her innocence. Without investigation of the report, the Duke sent Cardino, a relative, and the Count d'Aliffe, brother of the Duchess, to Soriano with a letter ordering the immediate death of Donna Violante. The unhappy Duchess received her brother and Cardino quietly and listened undismayed to the announcement of her doom. "I am innocent," she said, calmly, "all that I ask at your cruel hands is time to receive the holy communion." This was accorded her. While she was yet praying her remorseless executioners drew the silken cord and strangled her. Flinging the body of his sister, whom he had so unfeelingly murdered, at the feet of the shuddering priest, the Count d'Aliffe, followed by Cardino, returned to Rome.

On Christmas Day, 1559, it being one year lacking a week since the momentous brawl at the ducal palace, Pope Pius the Fourth ascended to the Papal throne. His election was due to Spanish influence and one of his first acts was the arrest of the Caraffas, the avowed enemies of the Spanish party. The three Caraffas, the Count d'Aliffe and Cardino were speedily brought to trial and condemned to die for the barbarous murder of Donna Violante.

The Duke de Palliano, the Count d'Aliffe and Cardino were conveyed to Tordinore and there publicly beheaded. The annals of the times relate that the Duke died a good Christian and bravely. Don Antonio was privately executed at Rome. The immediate sentence of death was announced to the Cardinal in his private apartments at the castle of Saint Angelo. He bowed his head and murmured: "Me die! O Pope Pius! O King Philip!"

After confession and mass the Cardinal turned to the waiting executioner and quietly said: "Do your duty!" The silken cord was placed about his neck, sharply tightened, and in a moment more the last of the Caraffas fell upon his face, dead. MARINER J. KENT.

MISS DAVENPORT'S DIVORCE.

It is Really the Star Who is Now Delighting Los Angeles.

In the HERALD this morning will be found a telegram from New York, which announces that Judge Barrett, of Gotham, has granted Miss Davenport, the actress, a divorce from her husband, Ned Price. As there are two histrionic artists bearing the stage name, Miss Davenport, the question was raised as to whether the person referred to in the message is the one now playing at the Grand or the other much older Miss Davenport, or Mrs. Lander, the widow of the General of that ilk. For the satisfaction of HERALD readers it may be well to state that it is "our Fanny"—for so Los Angeles people regard her for the nonce—who has succeeded in obtaining freedom from the vincula matrimonii from whose irksome presence she was in pain. Miss Davenport married Ned Price, an ex-prize-fighter and also an ex-actor, some nine years ago. From that time until quite recently Price managed for his wife. About a year ago some differences culminated between the husband and wife and they separated. Miss Davenport applied to the courts to have the marriage bond dissolved, and this the court has seen fit to do.

"Young Spoony doesn't come to see you any more," said old man Longcoffin to his daughter Esmeralda. "No, pa; the last two nights we were talking out at the gate Smith's colicky baby across the street screamed so that we couldn't hear ourselves talk, and somehow or other it seemed to sorter discourage him," replied Esmeralda.—[Texas Siftings.

Seaside Ecstacy: She (looking at the sea)—"How grand, how glorious, George, it is to watch the angry waves as they lash themselves against the shore!" He (with ecstasy, but less fluency)—"Yes, and—and—how damp it all seems!"—[Life.

"A horse! a horse!" King Richard cried,
But no horse met his sight.
He donned a female garb; his head
He covered with a wig of red,
And in a thrice, lo! at his side
Appeared a horse of white!

LOCAL EVENTS.

Political Meetings Held Yesterday Evening.

THE PAWN TICKET SWINDLE.

How It Is Worked on the Unsuspecting Greenhorn—Other Matters of Interest.

The Workingmen's Democratic Club met last night in the rooms of the County Central Committee. Quite a large attendance was present and the meeting was called to order by Mr. T. S. Scofield. The following officers were then elected: President, T. S. Scofield; Secretary, E. C. Barker; Treasurer, J. H. Tosney; Sergeant-at-Arms, J. K. Ahearns. Mr. Scofield was called upon for a speech and for half an hour he arraigned the Republican party in an eloquent manner. W. S. Waters also spoke to the point and complimented the club upon its earnestness in the work. An invitation to attend an open-air meeting of the S. M. White Club next Monday night was accepted and the meeting adjourned until next Wednesday night, when the club will assemble in Painter's Hall on Aliso street.

First Ward Democrats.

The Independent Democratic Club of the First Ward held a meeting last evening which was largely attended. Several visiting gentlemen addressed the meeting, after which President Harvey was called upon to explain why the club is styled the Independent Democratic Club. In a few well chosen remarks, he explained to the audience that there was great dissatisfaction existing among the voters of the First Ward, on account of the men who had heretofore been at the head of the Democratic party in the ward. He had been requested by the voters to organize a club independent of those gentlemen. Sixty-one new members enrolled their names, after which the club adjourned untill next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

PAWN TICKETS.

A Swindle Now Going the Rounds Hereabouts.

It is reported that the pawn ticket swindle is being worked to some extent in this part of the State. This aged swindle is best suited to new towns and the back woods, but sometimes it is worked very successfully in advanced cities like Los Angeles, and the method, while simple, is sometimes quite costly for the greenhorn. There are sharpers who visit pawnshops and purchase pawn tickets which state that upon the return of $20 or $30 a certain gold watch will be handed to the holder. These tickets can be purchased at some pawnshops for 50 cents apiece, and in San Francisco they have sold quite rapidly. The purchaser generally keeps the tickets until he reaches some country town, where he pretends to be hard up, but he will part with the pawn ticket, good for a gold watch for which he paid $150 for $50. The greenhorn figures a while, and thinks he has a bargain. For $50 which he will pay to the ticket seller and $20 or $30 to the pawnbroker, he can become possessed of a $150 watch, a clear gain of $70 or $80. He purchases the ticket, and later goes to the pawn-shop and pays the money, getting a gold watch, but what a miserable affair the watch is, not worth $10. A good ticket seller can dispose of six or eight tickets a week, and the profits are handsome, both to himself and the pawnbroker who keeps a supply of these gold watches on hand. The fact that these pawn-ticket sellers are reported to be on their rounds, should put the people on their guard.

THE UNKNOWN DEAD.

An Inquest Held at Whittier Yesterday.

The stench of decomposing human remains caused people in the vicinity of a building on the main street of the town of Whittier yesterday to search for the cause. Under the porch of the building were discovered the remains of a man, badly decomposed. He was evidently of the genus tramp. Coroner Meredith was summoned to the spot yesterday and held an inquest. No testimony leading to the identity of the deceased could be had. The man was about 35 or 40 years of age. He was attired in a soft hat, blue blouse, chequered shirt and jeans pants. He wore heavy shoes. The result of the inquest was that death was resultant of natural causes. Deceased will be interred in Potter's field at Whittier to-day.

A Small Fire.

The Kansas City House, a plain board structure, at No. 640 San Fernando street, nearly opposite the Southern Pacific freight house, was burned down at about twenty minutes past six o'clock last evening. The fire originated in the kitchen of the house, and was caused by the ignition of some material near the range. An alarm was turned in from box 23. Chief Moriarty and his men responded promptly, and despite the long run were soon at the seat of the flames. Of such tinder-like material was the building constructed that it was quickly destroyed. The department deserves credit for saving endangered surrounding property. Loss about $2,000 partially insured.

Too Much Drug.

A young man named McCabe, employed in a North Spring street drug store, was brought to the Police Station at about 11 o'clock last night, to all appearances badly intoxicated. He was locked up on that charge. Subsequent investigation disclosed the fact that McCabe was under the influence of a strong and dangerous drug, self-administered, for the purpose of soothing internal pain.

Undelivered Telegrams.

Undelivered telegrams at the Western Union Telegraph office, No. 8 Court street, at 10 P. M., July 18th: Mrs. Annie Halstrom, A. L. Woolsey, A. C. Evans, J. I. Mallard, L. Desmone, Iowa and California Land Company.

THE RAILROADS.

A Good Sunday Service to Santa Monica.

SMALL WASHOUTS IN ARIZONA.

The Extension from Huron Ready for Traffic—The "Sunset" Excursionists.

On and after Sunday next an important and much-needed change will take place in the Sunday train service between this city and Santa Monica. Trains will leave the San Fernando street depot for that resort at 8, 9, 10 and 11 A. M., and at 1, 4 and 5 P. M., making seven trains in all. For this city trains will leave at 7, 9 and 10 A. M., and 3, 4, 5 and 6 P. M. It is to be understood that this service is for Sunday only, the weekly schedule remaining unchanged.

A PLEASANT VISITOR.

Chief Clerk Patterson, of the U. P., in the City.

Mr. James Patterson, chief clerk in the Union Pacific offices at Denver, is in the city accompanied by his wife. Mr. Patterson, who is recognized as one of the ablest men in the railway service, has been making a tour of the coast, partly for recuperation and also for observation. During his peregrinations he has visited Victoria, Portland, San Francisco, Monterey, San Diego and other leading cities and is now enjoying his first experience of Los Angeles. Mr. Patterson is very enthusiastic over what he has seen, and says that he can now understand why people who have been here once are so anxious to return. When questioned about railroad matters, he said that the Denver and Rio Grande road has got the third, or broad-gauge rail, laid as far as Cañon City, twenty miles from Pueblo. The line between Denver and Pueblo has had a third rail for a considerable time, as it was by this route that the Santa Fe used to run. That system's track now parallels the Denver and Rio Grande, touching the same towns as far as Pueblo, and being so close that a stone can be thrown from one line to the other. It is the intention at present to complete the broad-guage as far as Leadville, which is now a bustling city of about 15,000 inhabitants. Leadville has assumed quite a solid appearance, Mr. Patterson says, and lots of money is always in circulation there, as a big percentage of the population is miners who earn about $4 a day on an average and spend all they get right in the city. Mr. Patterson did not think that the third rail would be laid into Ogden for a long time to come, as such a proceeding would entail enormous expense. It was all nonsense, he thought, about the D. & R. G. being anxious to sell out to the highest bidder, as it is one of the best-paying pieces of road in the country and does an enormous business. Regarding the rumor that the Missouri Pacific, which now runs into Pueblo, was seeking to obtain the road, he did not think there was much in it, though he said that the other roads would not care much if such a deal did take place. The Rock Island Road has a force of graders busy east of Colorado Springs, and will soon be into that city.

Mr. Patterson will leave to-day for Santa Ana.

DELAYED TRAINS.

A Theatrical Company Suffers—Arizona Washouts.

Train No. 17 from San Francisco, due here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, did not arrive until 11:40. The delay was caused by the accident at Pinole, twenty-four miles from San Francisco, full particulars of which were given in yesterday's HERALD. The Rentz-Santley Company arrived on the delayed train and missed the Colton local at which town they were billed to play last night. The manager chartered a special train however, and sent them through in time enough to appear.

Train No. 20 the Pacific, overland express, due here at 8:40 o'clock was bulletined ten hours late, so a special train for San Francisco was made up and sent out on time at 9:30. No. 20 was delayed by several washouts which have occured between Pontano and Wilcox in Arizona, which are, however not serious and will soon be thoroughly repaired. This is the part of the line which always suffers and a large gang of men has to be kept almost constantly employed there during the wet season.

FROM THE EAST.

Arrival of Another "Sunset" Excursion.

The "Sunset" excursion which arrived in this city on Monday consisted of the following passengers

FOR LOS ANGELES:

R. Fickett, Mrs. A. Reese, Mrs. McCurdy, Boston; R. S. Jackson, New Orleans; Albert Fryer, Providence, R. I.; Geo. Ross, Washington.

TO SAN FRANCISCO.

H. Patrick C. Telemain, Boston; J. Wright, Miss Nancy McLane, Jno. Lacy, Wm. Miller, Mrs. Clara Thompson, F. Young, Mrs. Grace Kelly, Philadelphia; S. C. Clark and family, New York City; S. Dengett, Mrs. Wickersham, Washington, D. C.; Michael Dowlin, Hugh Lagan, O. Jordan, Baltimore.

FOR COLTON.

Miss Ida Hennessey, England; C. Hamilton, New Orleans.

A New Line Opened.

The twenty miles of road which the Southern Pacific has been constructing as an extension of the Goshen branch, from Huron to Alcalde, has been completed and turned over to the operating department. This brings the line to within three miles of the coal mines of Messrs. Robinson and Rauling's, in the Coast Range, the output of which is said to be of excellent quality. The vein is a very large one and will be worked on a much larger scale than heretofore, thereby greatly reducing the charge of the "black diamond" in the San Joaquin Valley.

Pullman Passengers.

The following Pullman passengers left yesterday for San Francisco and the North:

By the 12:45 P. M. train—Mr. Renons, J. M. Hale, Miss Bliss, M. L. Welch, Mrs. A. Weil, Mr. Taggart, Mrs. J. T. Cutting, Mr. Solomon, Mrs. Snell, Dr. Southard, Mrs. Dargie, Mrs. Ferris, A. S. Dunham, R. Johnson, Mr. Melville, F. Phillips, Mrs. Niles, Mr. Everingham, Mrs. P. Blount, Mrs. Dean.

By the 9:30 P. M. train—J. J. Broadbeck, Mr. Shane, T. F. Philbin.

Fell From the Train.

An inebriated individual named Frank Delaney attempted to steady himself by the bell-cord as the Santa Monica train was passing Cienega. He failed to connect and overbalancing, fell from the train, alighting on his head and sustaining severe injuries thereby. He was brought back to the city on the first train and conveyed to the Sisters' Hospital, where he now lies in a bad condition.

A Boom for Ventura County.

A local company has been formed to build a new railroad between Nordhoff, Ventura County and Santa Barbara, a distance of fifteen miles. The proposed line will traverse the fertile Ojai Valley and will open up a thickly-settled and prosperous district. The grade is an easy one and no tunnels will be necessary, so the cost will not be very much. Work will be commenced at an early date.

General Gleanings.

The San Bernardino motor road to Colton will be ready for traffic in about four weeks.

It is said that there are 300,000 sacks of grain in the San Fernando valley awaiting shipment.

Mr. Richard Gray, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific, is on his way back from the East.

Mr. A. J. Forman, formerly an employe of the Rock Island road, in Chicago, arrived in this city with his family yesterday. He has come to stay.

The indications are that the proposed road between San Diego and Yuma, via Ensenada, will shortly assume a more substantial form than its hitherto paper construction.

Mr. H. B. Wilkins, who is to be established here as general freight and passenger agent of the California Central and California Southern, paid a visit to the city yesterday.

ABOUT A BILL.

A Police Officer Makes Trouble for Himself.

Yesterday afternooon a complaint was entered with the Police Commissioners against Frank Steele, a police officer, charging that he had not paid a bill. The Police Commissioners decided that the bill was just and ought to be paid. After the meeting of the Commissioners Steele met Mayor Workman and Mr. Humphreys on the street, and in an angry manner said he would get even with the Commission for its action, and talked in so loud a tone that he attracted the attention of bystanders. Mayor Workman telephoned to Chief Cuddy to take Steele's star away, and when Steele entered the police station at a later hour Chief Cuddy, who has always befriended Steele, asked him for his star. Steele seemed to lose his mind entirely, and said that he would not give up his star until he had been paid his salary. He then tore his star from his breast and threw it in the street. Chief Cuddy then took hold of him, and one of Steele's friends, P. Herman, took hold of the Chief. Officer Lennox came to the Chief's assistance, and both Steele and Herman were locked up on a charge of disturbing the peace. Steele was released at 8 o'clock, having recovered his self-possession.

A LEGAL QUESTION.

Relative to the Payment of School District Bonds.

The Supervisors are troubled over a very interesting legal point upon which they have asked the opinion of the District Attorney. It is in relation to the taxation of an incorporated city for the payment of bonds issued for the building of schools. A supposititous case is given to the District Attorney to decide about as follows: A school district some time in 1880 voted for the issuance of $10,000 bonds for the building of a school. Some time passed and the money had been expended and the population had grown so much that it was fonnd necessary in 1883 to vote for the issuance of $20,000 for the construction of three school buildings. These buildings were erected and the money expended. The central portion of this school district then grew so thickly populated that it was incorporated as a fifth class city and says it should be no longer taxed for the payment of the bonds for the school district. The question submitted to the District Attorney is as to whether the incorporation absolved the people in the city from their portion of the debt and threw it on the shoulders of the people of the district outside of the city or whether all will have to bear it equally.

A Useful Fire.

Chief Cuddy evidently intends to drive from the community the lowest class of men to be found, and has declared war on the "lovers," who are charged as vagrants whenever caught. The fire of yesterday morning aided his officers somewhat, for it drove out of their dens several of these objectionable characters, and Officers Bowler and Boland, who were on the ground, arrested F. P. O'Connor, Wm. Dunn, Emile Bosquet, John Bailey and John McCoy, who were admitted to bail in the sum of $100 each.

HOW MANY WAYS CAN THIS BE READ?

THE LOS ANGELES HERALD IS BY ALL ACKNOWLEDGED have been the prime factor in the discovery and making known of the resources of this section. To its sagacious outgivings more than to any other agency our marvelous development is attributed.

THE HERALD has from its inception watched with a single eye the budding industries of this portion of the State. For each good enterprise this journal has at all times had a word of cheerful encouragement. In spite o the skeptical, it has survived to see all of its earlier predictions fullfilled to the letter.

THE HERALD to-day takes the lead in all respects among the papers of Southern California. Its first care still is the material, intellectual and social interests of its section. It aims to be truthful rather than over-zealous in its publication of news; to be conservative rather than over-sensational, in its policy; to be clean and decent, respecting the sacred precincts of the home and fireside, rather than indecently salacious in its tone.

THE HERALD gets all the news from all quarters of the globe with promptness accuracy and dispatch. Its local staff is energetic and well-trained to miss nothing of real importance to its readers. It is always alive to all public enterprises.

THE HERALD still takes pride in aiding any legitimate material, intellectual or social movement which will benefit the people. No other journal in this section approaches it in those important respects.

GUARDIANS OF THE FORCE.

The Regular Meeting of the Police Commissioners Yesterday.

The Police Commission held is regular stated meeting yesterday afternoon, with a full board and the chairman presiding. Mayor Workman and Mr. Humphreys were as child-like and bland as the traditional babes in the wood. Chief Cuddy came up smiling. No ripple of past endeavor, however, stirred the serene atmosphere of the Mayor's office, and only the merest routine business was transacted.

The case of Officer Steele was first called. He owes Dr. Owen a bill for medical services and will not pay it, giving as a reason that the Doctor did not properly treat him. The testimony of Dr. Cochran and others was heard, and finally the Commissioners decided that Steel should pay the bill. A smile went round when Dr. Owen asked Steele (who was testifying) if he was a physician by profession. "No, only a woodbutcher, je was the irate officer's repartee.

The case of Officer Weatherman, charged with indebtedness by Hamlet R. Brown, was dismissed without prejudice to the officer. Major Bell, for the officer, stated that the whole matter had grown out of an error, and that everybody was satisfied.

The applications for saloon licenses made by Robert Stadie, Priestly & Kohler, H. Koch and Herman Roman were deferred for one week, pending the opinion of the City Attorney as to the right of the Commission to grant licenses in the face of the order of the Council that no more licenses shall be granted until 1889.

At the last meeting of the Board the licenses of Giraci & Degrazzia and Richard Brothers were revoked with others. They appeared yesterday and produced evidence that they did not keep disreputable places, Richard Brothers run the "Missing Link" on Main street, and they employ girls as barmaids. It is charged that young girls are there employed; hence the revocation of the license. Giraci & Degrazzia made out a good case for themselves and the Richards are to discharge their petticoated "beer-slingers." It is likely that at the next meeting of the Board the licenses of these two firms will be restored to them.

A communication was received from one A. May, stating that the saloon at the corner of Arcadia and Sanchez was a filthy and disgraceful resort of the ladlers of de bouillon, wherein many a French chef de cuisine goes to his ruin in a long continued still-vermilionizer. Referred to the Chief for investigation.

A communication was received from Citizen E. K. Green, complaining that the hoodlum element nightly terrorized the neighborhood of Seventh and Ninth streets and Union avenue. Chief Cuddy was requested to abate the nuisance.

The request of Officer R. E. Lee for pay for fifteen days' absence from sickness was denied.

Chief Cuddy reported that mounted Officer Auble had been assigned duty in place of Santiago Arguello, and P. S. Baker assigned to duty in place of Officer Palmore, resigned. The report was approved.

The usual reports of Captain Loomis and Sergeants Davis and Harris, were read and filed. The Captain reported that, according to request, Officers Jeffries, Doyle, Dillon, O'Brien and Arguello had resigned, and that Special Officers Dunn and McDonald had been relieved of their stars. Further, that Officer Lynch had been returned to duty on the 16th inst., and Officer Boland on the 17th inst.

New applications for appointment on the force were received from Geo. H. Buckingham, Herman German and Robert A. Henderson.

The Commission then adjourned.

THE SUPERVISORS.

Dr. Otto M. Schultz Makes a Statement to Them.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday and ordered the transfer of $240 into the Azusa School Building fund.

The bid of C. F. Douglass for moving a windmill from the County Hospital to the Poor Farm was accepted.

Dr. Otto M. Schultz appeared before the Board and made the following statement in regard to a story published recently in a morning paper:

"I have made complaint against the insinuations of the Times, impugning my character. It was proven by Mr. Macy, Chairman of the Hospital Committee, in company with Mr. Rowan, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, that I informed Mr. Macy of all the facts in the Russell case, and asked for his instructions; that I paid by his direction to the county treasury $24, charges for Board which Russell owed the county. Russell had entered the hospital as an impostor, complaining that he had no money. After consultation with Mr. Macy I wrote the letters to his half brothers in Nebraska, who had been designated by Russell as the parties to receive the balance of the money which he left. A thorough investigation, both by Mr. Rowan and Mr. Macy, exonerated me of any charges or insinuations contained in the article of the Times, and relieved me of all responsibility with regard to money transactions, the doctor showing receipts for the disposition of all moneys. I disclaim all knowledge of the disposition of the trunk and watch. The storage facilities of the hospital are imperfect and limited, I having complained to Mr. Macy during his administration for the disposition of things, and at that time asked for better facilities for the safe keeping of the same."

The opinion of the District Attorney was asked regarding a taxation for payment of school bonds and after devoting the balance of the day to the reading of the assessment roll, the Board adjourned.

First National Bank, of Santa Ana, vs. C. Z. Culver—Plaintiff alleges that defendant, by working on the confidence of the bank, fraudulently obtained of plaintiff $1,500; wherefore judgment is asked for the full amount, costs, interest, etc., and ask that the body of the defendant be placed in custody of the Sheriff until satisfaction is made.

Nellie Barrett vs. S. P. R. R. Co.—Plaintiff alleges that she is a widow and that her 8-year-old son had his leg mangled so as to necessitate amputation while at play on a turn-table of the company at Santa Ana; wherefore plaintiff asks $4,250 damages. The claim is based on the carelessness of the company in leaving the turn-table unguarded and a menace to the children of the community.

A Good Moral Attached.

An amusing accident occurred in the Antelope Valley last week. One of the ranchers visited Maynard and imbibed rather freely of the bottled beer that is always to be obtained ad lib at that place. When he started for home he felt rather drowsy and as his team knew the way well enough to the stables, he laid down in the wagon-bed, which was filled with hay, to enjoy a nap. He forgot all about a cigar he was smoking and as he entered into the embraces of Somnus, the lighted weed fell from his lips amid the dried grainstalks. The hay caught fire but unconsciously the slumberer slept on, rolling to and fro, restlessly as the increased heat affected him. Suddenly he awoke with a start, for everything was now ablaze and the frightened team was going at full gallop. In spite of the excitement naturally consequent on such a situation Mr. Granger did not lose his head, and seizing the reins which he had tied to the brake, he stopped his horses, and alighting unhitched them. An hour or two later a traveler passing by saw him sitting mournfully watching the last of his wagon as it crackled and blazed, a heap of ruins in the middle of the road.

Aurora.

In the western extremity of Antelope Valley, east of the Tejon Pass, in township 9, N. Range, 16 W., a colony of New Yorkers has recently located and organized a new town to be called Aurora. Prominent among its founders are Rev. F. H. Beck, O. L. Livesey, H. E. Chesebro, the Kessler Brothers, F. Yeager and other representatives of the Empire State. Rev. Mr. Beck and family and the families of Chesebro and Livesey left on last evening's train for their new home, full of hope for a bright future. Their purpose is to encourage the establishment of small fruit farms in that fertile valley, and to build up a rural town second to none in the States.

Spanish-American Club.

The Spanish-American Democratic Club will meet at Judge Taney's courtroom on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of reorganizing and taking an active and prominent part in the present campaign. This club will be a feature of this campaign, inasmuch as it had in the last gubernatorial election over 300 members enlisted, and the prospects for this campaign are that this number will be doubled. Much credit is due to Ralph Dominguez, A. Orfila and B. A. Yorba for their untiring efforts in organizing the first Spanish-Democratic club in this city and county.

A Girl Disappears.

The disappearance of Belle Hollingsworth, a servant girl who had been engaged by Judge Dunnigan, is reported. It is stated that she had been working for Hon. J. Marion Brooks, and after his family went to the sea-shore she was engaged by Judge Dunnigan, at whose residence she staid but one night, leaving her baggage there. She had $175 in her possession, and it is suspected that she has met with foul play.

At a late hour last night it was learned that a letter had been received from the young lady, and that she is all right.

Woo-Kee.

Chang Tin Wo, a Chinese merchant of Tuscon, Arizona, appeared at the County Clerk's office yesterday for a license to wed Wong Fung Kee, of this city. There is quite a difference in the ages of the two, Chan being 41 and Miss Wong but 18, but Chan is apparently well off for he left in the Clerk's office a business card stating that he dealt in general merchandise, wines, liquors, cigars, hay and grain on Main street, Tuscon. He speaks English fluently and takes home with him a young bride to share his prosperity.

Upon Suspicion.

F. M. Rodgers, supposed to know something of the recent robbery of Wells, Fargo & Co's treasure box at the depot, is in jail. He was arrested yesterday at the instigation of Chief of Police Cuddy and locked up. It is learned that Rodgers does know something of the robbery. Chief Cuddy's detectives, assisted by the express company's officers, have been hard at work on the case ever since the robbery took place. It is claimed they have obtained a clue by which they hope ultimately to hunt the robbers down.

Only a Rumor.

A rumor was current in town yesterday that a drowning fatality had taken place at Catalina Island, but on telephoning to San Pedro it was stated there that no news of any such event was known, and as the steamer arrived from the island at 4 P. M. and the crew knew nothing of it there was no possibilty of such news having been sent.

Fan-Tan in Court.

The case of Ah Chow, charged with dealing a game of fan-tan, is on trial before Judge Cheney and a jury yesterday. The case was rendered quite interesting by the introduction of a witness who illustrated the workings of the game. The case was continued until this morning, when it will be concluded.

To Marry.

The following were yesterday licensed to wed: J. F. Morley and Alice M. Stephenson, of Los Angeles; Chan Tin Wo, of Tucson, and Wong Fung Kee, of Los Angeles; Wm. G. Taylor and Mattie J. Vejar, of Los Angeles.

Harbor Facilities.

A new wharf is to be built at San Pedro off Timms Point by Messrs. Sheriff and Ribble. The franchise has been obtained and the piles have arrived, so work will be commenced at an early date.

Dr. W. E. Reed has returned from his tour through the northern territories, and is again ready for business at his old office in Baker Block.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT—

GROVER CLEVELAND, of New York.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT—

ALLEN G. THURMAN, of Ohio.

To enforce frugality in public expenditures and abolish unnecessary taxation.

FOR CONGRESS, SIXTH DISTRICT—

REEL B. TERRY, of Fresno.

OUR evening Republican contemporary last night had a truly terrible arraignment of the Democratic party, of the President, of Hon. S. M. White, of Hon. R. B. Terry and of the HERALD upon their attitude upon the new Chinese treaty. It makes that Convention out to be something perfectly terrible. It may be remembered that the recent Republican State Convention at Sacramento did the same thing in right heroic measure. But they did not know that while they were abusing said treaty in good set terms, the Senate of the United States, the Republican Senate, had just ratified the treaty and that every member of said Senate excepting two voted for its ratification. If we remember aright, Mr. Stanford whom this State Convention at Sacramento so belauded, was one of those who voted in the affirmative on this treaty. If it is so terrible a thing, will our blundering contemporary tell us why every Republican Senator excepting two voted for it? As to Ben Harrison's late and sudden conversion on the Chinese question, it looks a bit fishy. It looks much like Senator Sherman's as sudden and as late conversion on the silver question. It looks terribly like fishing for the votes of Republican suckers on the Pacific coast. Ben Harrison came much nearer expressing his real sentiments when in 1882 in the Senate he persistently voted in favor of all sorts of privileges to the Chinese, than he does now when he wants to catch suckers' votes. The Democratic party as a party has been steadfast and consistent in its opposition to Coolie labor on our shores. The Republican party as a party has been as persistent and as steady in its efforts to let the Chinese in, to bring them in, to smuggle them in, to have them here by hook or by crook. These are facts which the people know, and the Republican party cannot juggle the people out of this knowledge by any death-bed repentance indulged in in the face of a pending political struggle in which the odds are so greatly in favor of the Democratic candidates.

VIGOROUS steps should be taken, and at once, to secure the registration of every Democratic voter in the county. This desirable and necessary result will not be reached as things are going now. Citizens of foreign birth who took out first papers two years ago must complete their right to the franchise for the November election by taking out their second papers before the fourth day of next month. Many do not know this, and others will not take the trouble to do it unless they are urged to do so. Every voter in the party should make it his duty to make a personal canvass among his friends and in his neighborhood, to see that no man loses his vote by negligence or through ignorance. But more than this must be done. The registration machinery of this county is in the hands of the enemy. Those who control have proven beyond question their purpose and ability to use the advantage in an unpatriotic, in a narrowly partisan way, and to be utterly unscrupulous in their methods of procedure to do so. The conspiracy of two years ago should not be forgotten. The attention of the Democratic County Central Committee is called to this matter. Democratic deputy clerks for the express purpose of seeing to registration should be appointed at once. It should be done to-day, if possible. There should be at least one in every voting precinct in the county. He should be informed of the laws and he should give his entire attention to this duty. Demand that this usual courtesy be showed us, and that no Democrat be deprived of his franchise by the chicanery of the unscrupulous political ring who control the registration bureau, and who desire not only their party's success at the polls, but who are out for re-election and therefore have a double interest in suppressing the votes of their opponents.

THE total assessed value of all property in Santa Clara county for the current year is $36,000,000. Los Angeles county is assessed for about $100,000,000.

A Tariff Catechism.

The letter given herewith reached the HERALD office on Monday night. It is the production of a citizen who evidently thinks, and it runs as follows:

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 16, 1888.

EDITORS HERALD—As the articles published in the daily papers on the advantages and disadvantages of the tariff make such broad assertions without giving authorities to prove their assertions, I want to take the liberty of asking a few questions, which I trust you will candidly reply to. I am after information, and am neither a free trader or protectionist, not possessing the necessary information on the subject to make me either one or the other. So far as I have been able to inform myself I see advantages and disadvantages on either side, and if you will enlighten me to the best of your ability you will be doing a good act.

1. Does the Mills bill advocate Free Trade?
2. What is the average duty on all imports into the United States?
3. What average reduction does the Mills bill make?
4. What is the proportion of persons engaged in manufacturing industries of all kinds to those engaged in agricultural pursuits?
5. What is the proportionate value of all manufactories (that is capital invested) to the capital invested in agricultural interests?
6. What portion of the protective tariff goes to the laborer, and what to the owners of the factories and mills?
7. Is not the price of wheat and other cereals made in a foreign market, and not in this country?
8. How much higher are the average wages in the United States than in England? Germany? France? Italy?
9. Are these four countries protection or free trade?
10. At the rate the debt is now being reduced how long will it take to pay it off?
11. After the debt is paid in full what is to be done with the revenue?
12. Is it a fact that the present tariff is higher than the preceding one?

These are a few of the questions that come to me in studying this interesting question, and as this is a campaign in which he who votes intelligently must be well-informed, I trust you will answer the foregoing questions with such remarks as you may deem advisable. Respectfully, J. W. COOMBS.

A duplicate of the above was sent to the Times on July 7th, but as they have not published any reply I judge they have had a difficulty in finding suitable answers to my questions. Will you kindly reply to them.

The questions herewith submitted we have numbered above, and the answers will be numbered to correspond with the questions. In reply we say this:

1. The Mills bill does not advocate Free Trade. Confining our inquiry at the present to our own country we find some articles are admitted free of duty and in other imports there is a duty imposed. Let us give a few examples: Attar of roses free, castor oil 180 per cent duty; neroli, or orange-flower oil free, window glass 87 per cent. duty. Other articles pay a light rate of duty and still another list is heavily dutied. For example: Diamonds pay 10 per cent duty and steel rails 85 per cent; the best still wines pay 29 per cent and horse-shoe nails 116 per cent; pate de foie gras pays 25 per cent, and woolen stockings pay 73 per cent duty. The Mills bill merely proposed a considerate readjustment of the tariff such as will stop the accumulation of surplus revenue in the Treasury and at the same time make luxuries bear more of the burdens of taxation, and make the necessaries of life bear less. In other words the Mills bill seeks to make the rich bear a greater proportion of the taxes and the poor bear less. The New York Christian Union accurately outlines the difference of policy in the two great national parties. It thus places in parallel columns the contrasting propositions of the Republican and Democratic platforms:

DEMOCRATS.	REPUBLICANS.
Retain	Tax on alcohol. Reduce or abolish.
Modify	Tax on tobacco. Abolish. Fish.
Abolish	Tax on raw materials Retain.
Reduce	Tax on necessaries. Retain.
Retain	Tax on luxuries. Retain.
Revenue	Object of tax. Protection.
Economical Expenditures	Liberal.

No fair minded and at the same time intelligent person will assert that this is Free Trade. In fact the main purpose of the proposed revision of the present tariff schedule is to stop the accumulation of the surplus. That is to reduce the taxes to the measure of revenue needs in an honest and economical administration of the Government.

2. The average duty under the present schedule is a fraction more than 47 per cent. ad valorem on all imports of dutiable articles. Free imports are not taken, as the tariff on others cuts no figure on such from the standpoint of Protection and Free Trade.

3. The Mills bill proposes an average reduction of about 7 per cent. on all imports of dutiable goods. It will leave an average protective duty of 40 per cent. on all dutiable imports.

4. The census of the United States of 1880 is the latest data on this point. That gives us a total population of 50,155,783. Of these there were engaged in all sorts of gainful occupations, 17,392,099. These were divided as follows: Agriculture, 7,670,493; professional and personal services, 4,074,238; manufacturing, mechanical and mining, 3,837,112; trade and transportation, 1,810,256. Segregating these we find there were carpenters and joiners, 373,143; milliners, dressmakers and seamstresses, 285,401; miners, 284,228; boot and shoemakers, 194,079; blacksmiths, 172,726; cotton mill operatives, 169,771; tailors and tailoresses, 133,756; painters and varnishers, 128,556; iron and steel works and shop operatives, 116,539; masons, 102,473; machinists, 101,130; woolen mill operatives, 88,010; engineers and firemen, 79,628.

5. Still relying upon the statistics given in the census report of 1880, we find there were in the United States 253,840 manufacturing establishments of all sorts, and that the capital invested in them was $2,790,223,506. The value of the materials used per annum was $3,394,340,029; and the value of the products was $5,369,667,706. In agriculture we find there were 4,008,907 farms in the Union. In these farms were 536,081,835 acres of land. The value of these farms was set at $10,197,096,776. The value of the farming implements and machinery is put at $406,520,055. On them were raised forty-four million bushels of barley; twelve million of buckwheat; twenty million of rye; four hundred and sixty million of wheat; six million bales of cotton; one hundred and fifty-six million pounds of wool; thirty-six million tons of hay; twenty-six million pounds of hops; one hundred and ten million pounds of rice; four hundred and seventy-two million pounds of tobacco; one hundred and seventy million bushels of potatoes; thirty-three million bushels of sweet potatoes. The value of the live stock is put at $1,500,464,609; the cost of the buildings and repairs for the year 1879 is estimated at $77,764,473. The sales of products for that year amounted to $2,213,402,564. The total value of manufactures as given above in capital invested and products for the market is $8,159 891,212. The total value of farms and products sold is $14,317,484,024.

6. To this question there is no answer. Wages depend on the law of supply and demand. The Cincinnati Price Current in getting at our present probable population gives these figures:

According to the census returns the population of the United States in 1880 was 50,155,783, showing an increase of 11,597,412 for the decade, from 1870. During the ten years the reported immigration aggregated 2,812,101 persons, indicating 8,785,221 as the increase by reproduction. This gain is equivalent to almost exactly 2 per cent. applied annually, with the addition of the yearly immigration. Calculated on this basis the indicated population for June 30th for years since 1880 is as follows, according to computations of the Cincinnati Price Current:

	Increase, 12 mo.	Immigration.	Total gain.	Population.
1880.				50,155,783
1881.	1,003,116	669,431	1,672,547	51,828,330
1882.	1,036 566	788,992	1,825,558	53,653,888
1883.	1 073,078	603,322	1 676,400	55,330,288
1884.	1,106,606	518,592	1,625,198	56,955,486
1885.	1,139,109	395,346	1,534.455	58,489,944
1886.	1,169,799	334,203	1,504,002	59,993,943
1887.	1,199,879	490.109	1,689,988	61,683,931

So long as half a million labor seekers a year pour into a country whose total industrial population is seventeen millions an import tariff will not protect labor. Unskilled labor suffers the most severe strain, inasmuch as nearly all these immigrants belong to this class. When in the House of Representatives a few years ago, and when under President Arthur's Committee on Tariff Reform, the iron masters appeared to plead against reducing the imposts on that class of goods, Mr. A. S. Hewitt forced them to acknowledge that while the duty on imports of iron had been increased the wages of the employees had been cut down. It has been demonstrated that the proprietors of the steel works in which Mr. Carnegie is a large shareholder reap a profit of $5,000,000 a year from their industry. Yet in spite of this and in the face of 12,000,000 miles of railroad built in 1887, and as much building in 1888, with a prohibitory tariff on steel rails, these mills attempted to reduce the scale of wages which are already as low as a family can exist on. It does not seem as if labor got anything in the way of benefit—as a rule—from any tariff. Customs revenues pay the Government about $180,000,000 a year. Of this woolen manufactures pay nearly $27,000,000. Cotton manufactures pay $10,000,000. In these two industries there are engaged 170,000 cotton mill operatives and 88,000 woolen mill operatives. The amount of duty is great, the number of hands is small. Wool which employs less than half as many hands as cotton pays three times as much duty. But woolen mill operatives are not better paid than those employed in cotton mills. It does not appear that labor reaps any great harvest of benefit from the tariff.

7. Certainly, the price of wheat is fixed by the demand in countries foreign to us. The English market makes the price of wheat. France cuts some figure, as in good crop years that nation sells the cereal, and in bad crop years she is a buyer. That is a powerful factor in this market. We are very heavy exporters of nearly all cereals and cannot be affected by the tariff on them.

8. The following table gives a good idea of the relative wages paid in the countries referred to. We will take Secretary of State Evarts' report on the state of labor in Europe, based on reports from United States Consuls, in 1879. There is no later authenticated table of this kind at hand, and as it is being quoted and indorsed by Republican members of Congress in the current debate on the Mills bill, we shall not do the high-protection advocates any injustice by assuming it as trustworthy. Here it is—the wages given for each country being weekly wages:

Occupations.	United States. Chicago.	United States. New York.	Great Britain.	Italy.	Germany.	France.
Bakers	$8.00—$12.00	$5—$8	$6.50—$6.60	$3.90	$3.50	$5.55
Blacksmiths	9.00—12.00	10—14	5.12—7.04	3.94	3.55	4.45
Bricklayers	10.50—15.00	12—15	7.03—8.45	3.45	4.00	3.60
Cabinetmakers	7.00—15.00	9—13	7.59—7.70	4.95	3.97	6.00
Carpenters and joiners	7.50—12.00	9—12	7.33—8.25	4.18	4.00	5.42
Farm laborers per month	5.50—9.00	6—9	3.40—4.25	3.50	2.87	3.15
Laborers, etc.	6.00—12.00	10—15	4.50—5.00	2.60	4.00	3.92
Painters	9.00—15.00	10—16	7.25—8.16	4.60	4.60	4.90
Plasterers	12.00—20.00	10—15	7.63—10.13	4.35	3.80	3.92
Plumbers	12.00—18.00	12—18	7.13—8.46	3.90	3.60	5.80
Printers	9.00—18.00	12—18	7.53—7.75	3.90	4.86	4.70
Shoemakers	6.00—12.00	9—12	7.35	4.32	3.12	4.77
Tailors	9.00—12.00	10—14	7.30	4.30	3.58	4.10
Tinsmiths	9.00—12.00	10—14	7.30	4.30	3.65	4.10

9. England is under a Free Trade policy; Germany is very heavily protected; France is under a protective policy, and Italy is very heavily protected. Russia is the most heavily protected nation in Europe, and there wages are the lowest. China is under a policy of absolute exclusion and her laborers get only a few cents a day. We do not claim that protection is the direct or only cause of this. We wish to show that a protective policy is not necessarily for the benefit of labor. Mr. Carnegie's love for Mr. Blaine would give color to the suspicion that the protective policy of the Republican party is not meant to raise the wages of iron workers to any alarming degree.

10. The net debt of the United States is now somewhat more than $1,000,000,000; of this nearly one-third is redeemable in 1893. This cannot be extinguished now excepting at the option of the holders of the bonds. What is left of them at the date set for their redemption will be amply provided for. The balance of the public debt is not redeemable before 1907, excepting at the same option.

11. After the debt is paid, there will still be the Government to support, and the funds for this purpose must be raised by import duties in the main. There is always a navy to maintain; coast defences to provide for; the navigation of rivers to improve; harbors to better; public buildings to erect, etc. etc.

12. The Morrill tariff schedule was the one under which our Government lived prior to the passage of the one now in force. The average rate of duty by the Morrill bill was a fraction over 32 per cent. The present schedule was set at 47 per cent., and the Mills bill will leave it at 40 per cent.

OUR esteemed contemporary, the Times, works itself red in the face and until the great drops of agonized sweat roll from under the brim of its number five-and-a-half hat and down into the recesses of its number thirteen shoes. It is a pity so to pile the Ossa of heated anger on the Pelion of this mid-summer weather. And all this because the HERALD demands that the cowardly persecution being carried on against Chief Cuddy shall be held at least within the bounds of those rules which are required in legal proceedings, and which are specifically demanded by the charter! Mr. Cuddy is kind enough to waive all such formalities and to give his surreptitious and cowardly enemies full swing. It is reported that the other members of the Police Commission vouchsafe the very valuable information that there is not a word in the statements of the ex-convict Chinamen, whom Cuddy's cowardly enemies are using for their base purposes, connecting Cuddy with anything wrong. "Buz, buz!" who supposed there was? No one has yet said so far as we are informed that the other members of the Police Commission have taken bribes. But all the same we would like to see a most searching investigation made of all there is in that office touching gambling, dives, bribes and houses of ill-fame. We should like to know who pleaded for leniency to such institutions; who proposed to gather in the shekels from them for any purpose—and, above all, what is known regarding the administration of the office of the Police Commissioners prior to the incoming of the present Board. As we say the Mayor is understood to have most important information on this interesting head. Our esteemed contemporary, the Times, seems much interested in this mock reform programme, and it is also close to our good Mayor's best ear. Will our contemporary join with us in this laudable effort to get out the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth? That is what we want.

WHEN the last Great Register of the voters of Los Angeles county was printed two years ago the enrollment was about 18,800. There is now going forward a new registration of voters for the next election, which takes place nearly four months from now. At date there are about 16,000 names on the books. It is expected that the total enrollment this year will reach as high a figure as 25,000. An increase of 6,200, or thirty-three and one-third per cent. over the last registration means a very large growth of population in this section.

THE PEDAGOGUES.

Their National Convention Finally Opened.

THE FIRST DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Literature in the Reading Courses of the Common Schools Discussed.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—The Grand Opera House presented an animated appearance this morning as the teachers began to assemble for the first regular session of the National Teachers' Association. When President Gove called the Convention to order at 9 o'clock there were fully 1,800 teachers from every part of the United States, as well as a number of representatives from foreign countries present. The Convention was formally opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Dillig, of Oakland.

T. P. McBride, of Iowa, was appointed temporary speaker, after which it was agreed that the incoming Board of Directors should appoint a committee who would select a permanent Secretary and take charge of the official doings of the Convention and decide upon a permanent place of meeting. Committees were appointed upon Exposition, Resolutions and Necrology.

The next business before the Convention was the consideration of the theme, "Literature in the reading courses of the common schools," and the first paper was read by Horace E. Scudder, A. M., of Cambridge, Mass., his subject being, "The Place of Literature in a Common School Education," the text of which is subjoined.

FIRST PAPER.

THE PLACE OF LITERATURE IN COMMON SCHOOL EDUCATION.

The historical aspects of the question under discussion furnish an advantageous mode of approach, since attention is thus called to the fundamental comparison of principles rather than to a merely superficial contrast of methods. The motive which urged our fathers to the establishment of schools was professedly drawn from religion; that which impels us today is professedly drawn from politics. In both cases the human mind is seen struggling toward a larger liberty. The common schools thus contain the prophecy of the nation. Considering along what lines educational thought is running, and you will discern on what large circles the nation is sailing. The two dominant fields of national endeavor to-day are in the adjustment of labor to well being, and in the supremacy of the spiritual over the material.

The cry of labor in poverty is for a share in the good things of life. The answer is the gallows but the schoolhouse, and the interest in industrial education is a witness to the endeavor of the people to find some direct, practical remedy for the inequalities of the social order. But the right of material prosperity which has so wrought upon and inflamed labor in poverty, has likewise stirred the conscience of men of the nation, and has caused a note of alarm to be sounded. The protest of the spiritual man against the tyranny of an arrogant, a sensual materialism, takes different forms. Now it is a glorification of plain living and high thinking; now an appeal to college and university to exact philosophy and an intellectual survey of life; now a demand for the establishment of schools of art and for funds in the aid of students of art; now a vigorous movement on the part of the churches to extend their domain, and now a distinct call for a closer union between the elementary schools and the church. Materialism has many forms of which spiritual life is also varied in its manifestation.

It is significant of the greatest good that the pressure upon our schools to-day is of a double kind; on one side the axe, the hammer, the saw, the needle, the pencil, are thrust into the hand; on the other, literature in its purest, noblest form seeks an entrance to the soul. In the early days, when our national life was less complex, there was no necessity for the organization of education of the hand An enormous pressure of circumstance made boys farmers, artizans, hunters and seamen while they were at their books in the schoolroom. No nice adjustment of intellectual and manual pursuits was required. In the social condition of the day each made way for the other. In like manner the spiritual training of the young was determined by the condition of society. The Puritan, in his hand to hand fight with the powers of darkness, recognized no friends who did not wear his colors, and saw in art, in literature, and in nature, only foes in disguise. The one weapon which he used, his whole armory for defence and attack, was the Bible. Thus the one text-book in literature in the schools was the Bible. Within its lids were shut all those forces which made for the spiritual enlightenment of the boy or girl. The literature of the spirit, which finds a response in the imagination and fancy, was frowned upon in the Puritan judgment, but by a great and fortunate provision it was not excluded from the Puritan educational system. The Bible was the great text-book of the people. Since it was regarded as containing what was necessary to salvation, it was pressed upon everyone. Most truly was it necessary; it saved the young from the starvation of their higher natures. While its teachers were using it for its doctrinal efficiency, they were opening vistas into the realms of poetic beauty, all other entrances to which they carefully closed.

Passing to the time about fifty years ago, when the common school system may be said to have its rise, we find a diminution in the relative importance assigned to the Bible as a text-book, and an increase in the number and variety of books relied upon for the exercise in reading. At the same time we observe an increase of attention to that function of education which regards the thirst for knowledge and the discipline of the mental powers. The witness to this is in the high degree of development to which text-books in every department have been carried. It may be said to be the one field of literature where, without international copyright, American authors have had full play, and have been scarcely at all affected by English book-makers. These authors were not debarred by law from the use of foreign material, but they were subject to that higher, unwritten law, which makes a great institution like the common schools of an independent nation compel those who serve it, to consider its peculiar needs, and to be strongly affected by the spirit which resides in it. The schools of our country have had such innate force that they have shaped themselves, and the apparatus they require, after the law of their own being, and not after some foreign model.

This being the case with the text-book literature of knowledge, how is it with the text-book literature of the spirit? Externally, a like advance in all that attracts the eye. Again, a like regard for intellectual gradation, a minute attention to all the mechanics of reading. They stand on the same footing with geographies, histories, arithmetics and spellers. But the agreement is even closer. There has been a constant attempt at making the text-book of the spirit do the work of the text-book of knowledge. It is hoped that when the pupil has escaped the toils of the biologist, the geographer and the historian, he will find in his reading-book more natural history, more geography, more civil and political history.

The reading-books first in vogue fifty years ago carried forward the traditions of English literature, but by degrees a change took place, and they have come to reflect contemporaneous Americanism. In consequence of the immense addition to the reading population, caused by the extension of the common school system, there has been accumulated a vast quantity of reading matter, produced to satisfy the demand of unformed tastes. The text books in reading have come under the same influence. In obedience to the law of their social and literary life, the makers of reading books began to disregard English standards, and to fill these books with the commonplace of their own writing and that of those about them. They lost their sense of literature as a vehicle of the spirit. Two facts signally characterize the condition of the popular mind under this regime: (1) Literature is relegated to the higher grades as something to be studied; and (2) the newspaper is advocated as a reading book in schools.

If this state of things has been inevitable heretofore it is so no longer. The Americanism which has its exposition in the common schools and in the newspaper, has within these fifty years past had also another and higher exposition, in that group of poets and idealists who now constitute classical American literature. We cannot replace the Bible as the sole reading book, but we can take note of those lamps which God has set in the heaven of our national life, and let the radiance stream from our great literature into the minds of the children in our schools. I call you away from the cheap, commonplace, fragmentary American literature of our school text books to the inspiriting, noble, luminous and large-hearted American literature.

In the order of nature, the youth must be a citizen before he can become naturalized in the world. Yet in the same order there is an incipient, prophetic humanism before there is a conscious nationalism, and this earlier stage of the mind requires food of its own kind. That food is to be found in an adaptation of the literature of fable, myth and legend which sprang from the childish period of the world, and had but slight limitations in nationality or authorship. Literature of this sort makes the transition from the primer to national literature. The place, then, of literature in our common school education is in spiritualizing, letting the light into the mind, inspiring and feeding the higher forces of human nature.

Mr. Scudder was followed by Leroy Halsey, Superintendent of Public Schools at Battle Creek, Mich., who read a paper upon the subject of "Practical Methods of Using Literature in Teaching Children to Read," the text of which was as follows:

SECOND PAPER.

PRACTICAL METHODS OF USING LITERATURE IN TEACHING CHILDREN TO READ.

Methods are determined largely by the productions selected for the reading exercise. These productions should have certain characteristics. They should be literary classics, with noteworthy merits of style, that they may serve for the development of literary style and the cultivation of a good style. They should be instructive, giving information as to fact or principle. They should be interesting to children, that they may arouse the enthusiasm, and secure, in consequence, that concentration of mind which is necessary to effective work. They should be carefully arranged, in progressive order, with a gradual transition from the simpler to the more difficult, that they may promote intellectual growth. They should be, so far as is possible, entire works of considerable length that they may tell most largely in logical mental training, develop the highest interest and give the best preparation for the actual reading of life. The numbered readers, collections of extracts, must be used to some extent. They can not be thrown aside in the earlier days of the school life; they may best be used for a part of each year in the higher grades. They give variety and furnish the language and other aids which the average teacher needs. They should be used with constant reference to the highest literary study that is possible.

The training in reading which the school affords may not wisely be closed with the consideration of the masterpieces read in the class. Through these it should to the general consideration of what may be denominated the literature of life, stories, novels, essays, poems. This will lead us into the direction of the outside reading of the pupils. Through the class exercises in geography, history and science, the children may be introduced to the extensive literatures of those subjects. Here the library method of study, by which the pupils are sent to the classics in the several departments, may well be employed. Accompanying the study of literary classics in the school-room, the supplementary consideration of literary biography and criticism and of bibliography will naturally enter.

Most of the reading in class should follow careful preparation on the part of the pupils. This preparation will have to do with oral reading and with silent reading, with the understanding of the thought and its rendering. Good oral reading must be secured. Aside from other manifest advantages, it furnishes the test of proper thought reading In giving the ability to read aloud properly we are fulfilling the most obvious purpose of the reading exercise. Distinct, forcible and natural tones will be secured if the work is fittingly done. Accuracy in pronunciation and emphasis, and fluency in the oral rendering are to be sought. The reading that is worthy will spring from a knowledge of the thought and an intellectual sympathy with it. This only will make possible satisfactory oral reading.

The child must understand what he reads. The teacher should bring to bear such tests as will satisfy as to the pupil's comprehension of the author's meaning and will prove the strength of the preparation of the lesson. It is mainly thus that the reading exercise will be made to promote mental growth and carry out the second purpose of the class exercise, the one which gives the chief warrant for the introduction and retention of reading in the school programme. This purpose has to do with the development of the ability to comprehend in silent reading the thought of the printed page. A proper preparation will involve the constant use of the dictionary, the grammar, the handbook of rhetoric, the cyclopædia and the atlas.

Aside from the reading after due preparation, there should be a great deal of reading at sight. The purpose of this is to give to the pupils facility and readiness, confidence in themselves and a fitting preparation for the impromptu reading throughout life.

The reading of the pupil should not be confined to the school. Proper attention, as has already been stated, should be given, in the class exercise and in more general ways in the schoolroom, to directing the pupil's use of the world of good literature. The public library will afford books for outside reading by pupils. This general reading should be under careful direction, with constant suggestions by the teacher, to make sure that the reading is properly done. Oral and written reports to the teacher and informal talks between teachers and pupils concerning the books read are serviceable. Here lies one of the highest duties of the teacher. In the direction of this outside reading it must be borne in mind that there are at least three general purposes. These purposes are unconnected severally with the reading for discipline and mental growth, the reading for knowledge and the reading for culture. The latter is the highest aspect of the subject. An important consideration is that of the purchase and personal use of books. Children should be encouraged to form libraries of their own and instructed as to what they should purchase for their own collections, and how they should use their literary possessions so as to get the most benefit from them.

The fundamental idea in the whole work should be that the cultivation of the taste for good reading is, next to character building, the highest office of the school.

Miss Mary L. Beecher, of Memphis, next read a paper upon the "Practical Value in Life of a Taste for Good Reading," the text of which was as follows:

THIRD PAPER.

THE PRACTICAL VALUE OF A TASTE FOE GOOD LITERATURE.

Books are the ministers of angels, good or bad. Upon their white and senseless pages are recorded thoughts and passions whose power may rouse for eternal good or ill some kindred power dwelling in the secret chambers of the inmost soul. The influence of books is immeasurable, reaching from the individual to the nation. They teach us to speak, they teach us to think, they teach us to feel, they teach us to act; in short, they teach us to live, and they should help us to die; for a book to fulfill its true mission, must not only "suffice the mind, but save the soul beside."

De Quincy divides all Literature into two classes; the Literature of Knowledge, that is, the expression of abstract thought alone, whose function is solely to teach, as Euclid's "Elements;"—and the Literature of Power, the expression of eternal truth born of the union of intellect and spirit in man, (spirit meaning man's emotional nature) whose function is both to teach and to move. It is the Literature of Power we are to consider especially.

Body, mind and spirit grow by what they feed upon. Books are our mental food, as much a part of our daily bread, and as essential to our mental and spiritual development, as the food we eat is to our physical. We must not overlook the importance of beginning life as a healthy animal, as Herbert Spencer says. Let us, then, look to our bodily food. But shall we be less for our minds and souls than for the clay covering which clothes them? By no means. Let us then feed our minds upon such books as shall help us to think deeply, feel nobly, act grandly in our several spheres however circumscribed, remembering that the smallest circle is as perfect as the largest. Likewise, let us strive to attain the power to reject intuitively books which tend to blunt our perception of the good, the beautiful and the true; Schiller's "Ethical Trinity of the Ages." The invention of the printing press, by multiplying the number of volumes, has made the task of selection most difficult, but all the more an imperative duty.

Books are the true interpreters of life—of ideal life, which we must ever seek to make real. As but a small portion of life has to do with earthly things, and as the few years in which we are sojourners here are but a preparation for an Eternity of Life beyond the stars, books, to be faithful interpreters, must lift us above the level of earth and carry us upward to the realm of pure thought, holy aspirations, and contemplation of Divine Truth and Beauty. Only thus can they teach us to live, and, if they fail to do this, they are at best valueless, and may be pernicious. Among life's interpreters, the poets rank first, because they are the supernaturally inspired prophets, divinely-appointed bearers of the Torch of Truth from age to age. If we fail to grasp the full meaning of life as the Great Source of Life intended it to be, it cannot be because the teachers are few or incompetent. Wherever and whenever, in the evolution of Truth which the centuries have witnessed, the world has craved more light, the Divine Command, "Let there be light," has been re-echoed, and Heaven-born thoughts have knocked at the brains of genius and clamored to be given to the world. Even the very Light of Light came down from Heaven to bid the shadows flee away.

Poetry, fiction and history are not the only interpreters of life's mysteries, but every branch of literature is full of invaluable lessons, if we be willing scholars. All books which lead us to a reverent study of the natural world, must also lead us to the supernatural, rooted in nature, with its branches and blossoms and fruit in Heaven.

The development of character, individuality or whatever we call that mysterious something which makes us really ourselves, is largely in our own hands. In such development the books we read are, perhaps, more important than the people with whom we associate, for we approach much nearer the inner life of an author in his works than to that of our daily companions. We meet the author soul to soul, heart to heart, if he speaks the sacred truth as revealed to him; if he willfully departs therefrom, by so much as one jot or one title, he is a dishonest teacher, a liar, and must be shunned. Let us associate with true, pure, strong personalities, only in literature, if we would be true, pure and strong in character.

National character is but an enlarged copy of individual character, to which it is indissolubly linked. Literature effects the latter through the former, in like degree. By the mighty power of the pen, revolutions have been wrought, laws have been made and unmade, kingdoms overturned, and the course of civilization shaped. History shows us the effect of literature upon national events in England, France, Russia and America.

The greatest center and source of strength in individual and National life is the Home. Upon woman as the home-builder, falls the responsibility of guarding well its sacred precincts. No calling could be grander than hers, for to her it is given to shape the destiny of men and nations. Her true safeguard against failure in her mission is a true culture of head and heart.

We Americans are a nation of readers,—in time, we may become a nation of writers, if, by over impatient haste, we do not mar the character of our national literature, which, yet in its infancy, promises so fair a maturity. We must beware of becoming simply book-makers, an evil which can best be guarded by instilling into the youthful mind a taste for the best in literature. The home and school must work together to accomplish this. The thoughtful study of words, each of which is a fossil poem, preserved as carefully as the delicate fern in the rock of adamant, should be the foundation of a comprehensive literary course of schools. Every reading lesson, every speling lesson, every history lesson, indeed every science lesson, by training the mind to careful observation of natural phenomena so helpful in description should all bear directly upon the development of a taste for good literature.

After the reading of Miss Beecher's paper there was a general discussion of the subject of Literature, in which W. B. Powell, Superintendent of public schools of Washington, D. C.; D. B. Parkinson, Carbondale, Ill.; Professor J. F. Solden, Almon Richards and others took part. The Convention then adjourned till 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

PRODUCE EXCHANGE.

Annual Meeting of the San Francisco Organization.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—The twenty-first annual meeting of the Produce Exchange of San Francisco, was held to-day. In his report, President Dalton referred to the the wheat crop of 1887, being 865,000 short tons, or about what was indicated by the crop reports published by the Exchange last spring. The present crop, owing to draught in April, will be much less than the estimates made in March, but the unprecedented cool weather of May and June, aided by timely showers, made a marked improvement in the general condition, and the shortage will be less than was anticipated. He spoke of the California exhibit forwarded to the Melbourne Exchange, as one which should be considered a credit to the State. The receipts for the year were $30,960, with a balance of $4,011 now on hand. During the year, ending June 30, 1888, deposits in margin banks on contracts of call amounted to $2,768,712. The business transacted during that period was, wheat, 973,000 tons; barley, 1,083,000; misaellaneous, 2,800; grain bags, 4,510,000. This was a striking decrease in transactions as compared with those of the previous year, which was due to over-speculation. The exchange was now on a healthy basis, and an increase may soon be looked for in its business. A new Board of Directors and officers were chosen for the ensuing year. Frank Dalton was re-elected President; Jas. Hogg Treasurer.

Bay City Breezes.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Mrs. James Fulton, wife of the Paymaster General of the Navy, arrived to-day from Washington on her way to visit her mother at Los Angeles. Mrs. Fulton is accompanied by her son and the daughter of Col. Dunkelberger, of Los Angeles.

A. B. Spreckels leaves to-morrow for Philadelphia, where he will remain for some time, and take charge of the works there during his father's trip to California to open the Watsonville beet sugar factory in September.

In a chase after Thomas Murray this morning, who was discovered burglarizing a house on Jones street, twenty-four shots were fired by a policeman, none of them taking effect. The burglar was finally captured in an alley where he had secreted himself.

MILITARY CHANGES.

Information has been received at army headquarters in this city of the following changes in the Department of California, to take effect October 1st: Colonel Chauncey KcKeever is relieved from duty and ordered to report at Washington. Lieutenant-Colonel Geo. D. Ruggles is relieved from duty in the Department of Texas and ordered to duty in the Pacific Division and Department of California. Assistant Surgeon William Martin has been ordered to duty at the San Francisco Naval Rendezvous, and to attend the officers of the Navy and Marine Corps stationed there. Assistant Surgeon Ernest W. Anzel has been detached from duty at this city and ordered to do duty at the Naval Academy. Major Merritt Barber, relieved from duty in the Arizona Department, is ordered to the Department of the Columbia, and Major William J. Volkman of the latter Department, will proceed to Arizona. Robert P. Hughes, Division Inspector of the Pacific Coast, who has been on a month's leave of absence, has been released from duty at the headquarters of the Pacific Coast, and Lieut. Col. Edward M. Heyl, Inspector General of Texas, will fill the vacancy.

The Prison Assembly.

BOSTON, July 18.—The morning session of the Prison Association was devoted to discussion. Warden Hatch, of the Michigan State Prison, dissented from some of the positions taken by the papers of last evening. He doubted whether the time had come for indeterminate sentences. He would have every prisoner work.

Gardner Tuffts, of the Massachusetts Reformatory, disagreed with Brockway's paper of last night. Professor Collins, of Cornell University, defended Brockway.

W. F. Spalding. of Massachusetts, said the great problem is not to reform thieves and burglars, but to reform drunkards.

Mr. Smead, of Toledo, Ohio, defended the Ohio prison. It was the best in the United States. They have a definite sentence, indefinite sentence, parole law, and law for habitual criminals.

Warden McClaughrey, of Joliet, told of the benefit of the Bertillion system in identifying men released on parole.

J. H. Wines, secretary of the Association, presented an elaborate paper on American prisons. He wants the general government to undertake the collection of prison statistics.

At the evening session a paper was presented by Richard Vaux, President of the Board of Inspectors of the Eastern penitentiaries upon the present prison systems and their effect on society and criminals.

A paper was also read by Dr. H. D. Wey on physical training for youthful criminals.

Bad Santa Fe Wreck.

ALBUQUERQUE, July 18.—A freight train on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road went off the track this morning at a a point near Sulzbacher, wrecking the engine and ten loaded cars and killing Engineer Dale and Conductor Haynes. The accident was caused by the spreading of the rails. The fireman was badly injured but not fatally. The bodies of the engineer and conductor were taken to Las Vegas.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Statehood of Washington Territory.

PAN-HANDLE ANNEX DISCUSSED.

Progress of the Mills Bill Delayed by Republican Obstinacy. Washington Waifs.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

WASHINGTON, July 18.—In the Senate to-day a resolution instructing the Committee on interstate Commerce to inquire into the propriety of extending the Interstate Commerce law to telegraph and express companies, and to railroad companies not now subject to it, during the recess of Congress and appoint a clerk and stenographer, was offered by Cullom and referred to the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Senate bill for the formation and admission into the Union of the State of Washington, to be composed of the present Territory of Washington and part of Idaho Territory.

Cullom offered a substitute for the bill, confining the area of the new State to that of the present territory of Washington.

Stewart supported the bill. The only controverted point in the bill, he said, was as to the inclusion within the new State of that portion of Idaho, known as north Idaho for the Pan-Handle. He stated the reasons why the annexation should take place.

Vest doubted the power of Congress to refer the matter of annexation of Northern Idaho to the people thereof. There had been, he said, a vast amount of adjudication in the question, and the weight of authority was decidedly against such relegation of the legislative power, for this was nothing else. If it was right that part of Idaho Territory should be cut off and annexed to Washington State, it should be done by Congress, and not subjected to all the chances of a popular election.

Dolph supported the bill.

Cullom favored the immediate admission of the new State, but opposed the annexation of a portion of Idaho. He quoted resolutions of the conventions of both political parties of the Territory against the proposed dismemberment, and also resolutions of thanks of Idaho county to President Cleveland for vetoing (by pocketing) the bill of the last Congress adding the four northern counties of Idaho to the Territory of Washington. He also read a letter from the Governor of the Territory of Idaho to himself, expressing the conviction that the Senate would not attempt to divide that Territory against the memorial of its Legislature and against the protests of both political parties, backed by at least nine-tenths of the population of Idaho. He declared it was not right after the twenty-five years of privations that belong to frontier life to say to the people of Idaho, just as they were beginning to see daylight dawn in the East and to be entitled to admission as a State, "We will take off 25,000 square miles of your area and 20,000 of your population, and we will attach them to some other Territory and put you back twenty years longer." He hoped the bill reported by Stewart from the majority of the Committee would not pass the Senate, but that the substitute offered by himself on the part of the minority (which simply proposed to admit Washington Territory with its existing boundaries) would be passed.

Stewart read a large number of resolutions and letters and statements in support of the annexation of North Idaho and said nature had made these four counties (which are in the great Columbia basin) part of Washington, but that in view of the suggestion that the majority of their people were opposed to annexation, the bill provided for submitting the question to them, they being the only people interested.

Without action on the bill the Senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business and soon adjourned.

NOTES.

The bill introduced at the request of a large number of civil engineers for the establishment of a Bureau of Harbors and Waterways was reported by Senator Cullom to-day from the Committee on Commerce without recommendation and placed on the calendar, the Senator stating that the Committee had not been able, in the press of other work, to give the matter full consideration.

Hoar gave notice at the request of Frye, who has the Fishery treaty in charge (in the absence of Sherman) that he would next Friday ask the Senate to proceed with the consideration of the treaty, and would urge the Senate to continue the discussion until it was ended, and then that a vote be taken without further delay.

THE HOUSE.

Proceedings Again Delayed By Republican Obstinacy.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The Tariff bill was taken up early by the House to-day.

On motion of Tracy, of New York, primuline was stricken from the free list.

The first paragraph which had been passed over informally (that placing cotton ties or hoops on the free list) was then considered. After some discussion McShane, of Nebraska, offered an amendment placing on the free list all iron and steel hoops not thinner than No. 20 gauge. Agreed to.

On motion of Mills, the existing rates of duty were restored on cement and whiting and Paris white. The duty on Paris green was fixed at 12½ per cent. ad valorem.

The pottery schedule was then taken up for consideration. The duty on china, porcelain, earthen, stone or crockery ware was increased from 45 to 50 per cent ad valorem. The next paragraph called up was that relating to green and colored glass bottles. Breckinridge, of Arkansas, moved to make the duty 1 cent instead of three-quarters of a cent per pound. Adopted.

He also offered other committee amendments striking out flint and lime glass bottles. The paragraph raising the duties on cylinder and crown glass, polished, not above 24 by 60 inches, was raised from 15 to 20 cents per square foot, and window glass not exceeding 10 by 15 inches, from 1 cent to 1¾ cents per pound; on sizes not exceeding 16 by 24 inches, from 1¼ cents to 1⅝ cents; on sizes not exceeding 24 by 30 inches, from 1½ cents to 2 cents; sizes above that, from 1¾ cents to 2½ cents. Agreed to.

The question of the duty on imported tobacco was next taken up, and Mills moved to strike out the clause fixing the rate of duty at 35 cents per pound, thus restoring the present duty.

La Follette, of Wisconsin, spoke for five minutes upon this motion, and desired further time, but Mills declined to yield, and upon his motion the Committee rose for the purpose of limiting the debate.

Mills moved that all debate on the pending paragraph be limited to one minute, and the Republicans being again refused five minutes, declined to vote, thus leaving the House without a quorum.

Mills then moved that the House take a recess until 8 o'clock, but the journal showed the absence of a quorum, and the motion was ruled out of order.

Mills moved to adjourn, and on a standing vote the motion was carried and the House adjourned.

NOTES.

The Committee on Appropriations to-day added the following items of appropriation to the General Deficiency bill: To supply the estimated deficiency in the appropriation for the collection of customs and revenues for the fiscal year of 1889, $450,000; for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of the Alien Contract Labor Law for the fiscal year, 1889, $50,000. There also have been incorporated in the bill recommendations of the Secretary of the Treasury for the Alien Contract Labor Law.

The bill passed yesterday by the Senate for the adjustment of the pay of laborers and mechanics under the eight-hour law was acted on favorably by the House Committee on Labor this morning, and will be reported to the House sometime during the day. It will take the place of the bill on the same subject now before the House.

Washington Waifs.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the nomination of Mm. B. Tedford, to be Postmaster at Santa Ana, California, and John S. Stuff at Livingston, Montana. W. A. Hall has been confirmed as Postmaster at Phœnix, Arizona.

The Secretary of the Treasury this afternoon accepted $56,000 4½ registered bonds at $1.07 35-100.

The United States Consul at Victoria, B. C., reports to the State Department that there has been a renewed influx of Chinese into British Columbia. The arrivals from May 1st to July 8th number 2,854 persons, most of them immigrants provided with return certificates issued by the United States customs officers, and are on their way to San Francisco. Many of these certificates, he says, are fraudulent, and the holders have made several attempts to cross the line near Vancouver.

The Naval officials are very much pleased over the success of the casting of the stern post of the cruiser Charleston at the Pacific rolling mills. The post is shown to have been an exceptionally fine extra smooth and sound casting of open hearth steel. The weight of the charge placed in the furnace was 27,205 pounds of metal, and the dressed casting weighed 11,510 pounds.

Political Pickings.

At Utica, N. Y., the State Hop Growers' Association, in session Wednesday, declared themselves political opponents henceforth of any party unfriendly to hop and malt beer.

The National Republican Committee met at New York Wednesday and selected the four-story brick house at No. 91 Fifth Avenue as their headquarters. They will move in as soon as the building can be got ready.

The Tennessee Republican Gubernatorial Convention met at Nashville on Wednesday. The platform is a simple endorsement of the National platform, with an emphatic declaration in favor of the Blair bill, and against leasing convicts. Samuel W. Hawkins was nominated for Governor.

The Prohibition State Convention assembled at Hutchinson, Kan., Wednesday. There was an unusually large number of women present. Col. D. W. Huston, Temporary Chairman. It was predicted that the Republican party would be a thing of the past before another year. The usual committees were apointed.

At Jackson, Miss., the State Prohibition Convention was called to order by B. L. Hobbs, of Brookhaven. Judge E. G. Peyton was elected Chairman. Bishop Galloway successfully advised against an electoral ticket. A resolution favoring the repeal of all internal revenue taxes on whisky was defeated. A resolution asking the State Legislature to pass prohibitory laws was adopted.

The usual number of delegations called to pay their respects to General Harrison Wednesday; the most notable being the Tippecanoe Club from Kokomo. In order to avoid confusion and give General Harrison as much time as possible, it has been announced that hereafter the Republican State Committee will have charge of matters fixing the time and place for receiving clubs and delegations.

THE "Q." DYNAMITERS.

How Wilson Was Forced to Unmask.

"SQUEALER" BOWLES TESTIFIES.

He Tells How He Jobbed in Dynamite Under Bauerisen's Instructions.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

CHICAGO, July 18.—The exposé of Wilson, one of the supposed "Q" dynamiters, as a Pinkerton detective, was brought about by the lawyers too closely pressing the cross-examination of Superintendent McGinn, of the Pinkerton Agency, who was on the stand. He had the alternative of refusing to answer pertinent questions concerning Wilson, or causing the latter to show up in his true colors. McGinn chose the latter and gave Wilson, or Mulligan, a signal, who sprang quickly across the room to the side of the prosecution. When the commotion subsided Superintendent McGinn related the circumstances of Broderick, one of the conspirators, throwing the mysterious letter out of the car window at the time of the arrest and the subsequent recovery of the letter. The motive of Broderick in ridding himself of the missive is not apparent, as the letter is entirely noncommittal.

BOWLES, THE "SQUEALER,"

Was the next witness. He began by telling the secret meeting of the Brotherhood in Aurora. He said Chief Bauerisen made the statement that we should do something; that the company was getting ahead of us; he said it would not do for him to do anything in regard to the use of dynamite, but it could be used with good effect. After the meeting was over I made the statement to him that I knew how to use it; I had seen it used in gravel pits. He wanted to know if I could get any of it, and I told him I thought I could. He gave me $7.50 and told me to get it. That was two weeks after I was initiated. Goding, one of the defendants, was among those at the meeting.

JOBBING IN DYNAMITE.

The informer then told of one of his expeditions to Indiana to purchase dynamite, and how Bauerisen had sent him with it to George Clark, of Galesburg, the leading engineer, who was arrested. They went out together to place it on the track, and it was some of this dynamite that Bowles buried and which was dug up yesterday.

"Bauerisen told me," continued the witness, "that in a certain part of Aurora there was a frame house, and that under it was a sewer running across the street. The house was a 'scab' boarding house. Bauerisen wanted Aleck Smith and myself to get under the house by this sewer and place a bomb there and blow up the house. I told him that would be murder and I would not do it."

Witness further implicated George Clark by telling of the letter from Bauerisen, in which the letter said Clark wanted some of the "goods" (dynamite), and for him (Bowles) to hurry up and give Clark some. Witness thereupon bought two pounds of dynamite and gave it to Clark. He received another letter from Bauerisen telling him to hurry up with the "goods" to Creston. He then went to Creston and delivered four pounds of dynamite to Broderick.

A LETTER FROM BAUERISEN.

Witness then presented a letter addressed to him June 27th, signed J. A. B. The letter informs him that he is being watched, not to do anything suspicious, and if he thought best, to go home or look for a situation somewhere and give up the jobbing business. Bowles could not swear the letter was in Bauerisen's hand-writing, but from the fact that they had corresponded about the matters mentioned, he was satisfied of its authenticity. He also explained the contents of the letters received from Bauerisen at Noblesville, Ind., enclosing money and instructions to take plenty of goods to Creston.

Under cross-examination Bowles admitted that he had told the attorney for defense while in jail that he was innocent; that he knew nothing of the use of dynamite and that he had lied repeatedly as to his innocence, and other matters. When cross-examination was concluded Mr. Ewing arose and said the State would rest at this point. The court adjourned till to-morrow.

THE OHIO CENTENNIAL.

Gilt-Edged Oratory by John W. Daniel.

MARIETTA, Ohio, July 18.—At Centennial Hall the morning was given to pioneer reminiscences. The great oration of the week, for elegance in delivery, was that of the Hon. J. W. Daniel, of Virginia. It abounded in historical statements as to Virginia's part in conquering from Britain He dwelt upon the restored Union, which he said never had but one thing—slavery—to divide and distract the people. In conclusion he said how, in the contemplating of the subject of slavery—the rise, fall and obliteration of slavery in Virginia—it rises in his mind like the figure of a stately young sapling into whose side is driven a wedge. When the war ended that wedge had been withdrawn, the sides of that young tree have grown together, the sap is again running up its length, and it now stands like a vigorous young oak which sends its roots down deep into the center of the earth and waves its leafy branches among the stars of heaven.

To-morrow is Ohio day, and will bring many noted guests.

PERSONAL RIGHTS LEAGUE.

German-Americans Organize Against Prohibition.

CHICAGO, July 18.—What is intended to be a national organization designed to work in opposition to the Prohibition movement was chartered under the State laws to-day in the name of the "Personal Rights League." The incorporators are well known German-American citizens of Chicago. One of them explained to-night that its membership was growing rapidly and as soon as sufficiently strong here branches will be established in other leading cities. The promoters design to inaugurate a popular National movement against Prohibition, though in favor of temperance.

SENSATIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Mysterious Bomb-Throwers at Sacramento—Collision at Sea. Expensive Fire.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

CHICAGO, July 18.—The course to be pursued in prosecuting the would-be assassins of Grinnell, Gary and Bonfield was decided upon this morning. It was semi-officially announced that the Anarchist trio would be taken about noon before a justice and their cases continued for ten days. That would give an opportunity of presenting the murderers' conspiracy with the least possible delay to the Grand Jury, which assembles Monday. A speedy indictment and trial is hoped for by the authorities. The object is to make a lesson of justice so strikingly quick, if possible, as to make its influence doubly effective.

The prisoners were brought into court as arranged and after a brief statement by Inspector Bonfield, were held over. Their bonds were fixed at $5,000 apiece.

A DECIDED SENSATION.

Another sensation was sprung upon the defense in the dynamite case to-day. John Wilson, one of the prisoners who was arrested with Broderick and Bowles as an anarchist conspirator and as a Brotherhood engineer, cooly left his seat in the group of which Broderick and Bauereisn were members, and walked over to the side of the room where the prosecuting attorney sat. Wilson took a chair beside Mr. Dawes, attorney for the Burlington Company, and began to chat in a friendly manner. Then it was developed that Wilson was not an engineer, not a brotherhood man and not even Wilson, his name is John Mulligan and he is a Pinkerton detective, and it appears that he has had the confidence of all the prisoners and their attorneys.

SACRAMENTO DYNAMITERS.

SACRAMENTO, July 18.—The persecution of the Soule family, who reside three miles east of this city, still continues. An attempt was recently made to blow up the residence with dynamite bombs, and this morning Mrs. Soule stated that last evening a blacksmith shop situated a short distance from the house took fire most mysteriously, and was entirely destroyed. A short time before the fire there had been a terrific explosion, and Mr. Soule went out on the front porch to keep watch over his packing house, when the blacksmith shop was discovered to be in flames. Mrs. Soule is still unable to account for the mysterious and outrageous persecution. She says that her husband and one of her sons are ill from exposure while watching to catch the bomb throwers. The dynamiters seem to know when watch is being kept, however, and do not appear at such times. The family have been in a state of siege over six weeks. Some times there are three or four explosions during the night, and where the missiles come from and how they get there is a mystery. Mrs. Soule came to the city to-day to hire a guard, as the members of her family are worn out with watching.

COLLISION AT SEA.

The Fulda Runs Down a Fishing Schooner.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The North German Lloyd steamship Fulda which arrived yesterday from Bremen run down an unknown fishing schooner on the banks of New Foundland Saturday. A dense fog prevailed at that time and the shooner disappeared astern immediately after the collison. Boats put out in search of her and for nearly an hour groped around in the fog but no traces of the schooner nor twenty of the men belonging to her were found. Many passengers on the steamer were horrified witnesses to the collision. The lost vessel was probably a French fisherman. The steamer's officers claim that the usual precautions were being taken when the collision occured.

THE REPORTS EXAGGERATED.

Gustave Schwab, agent of the North German Lloyd line in this city, said today that the public reports of the collision were grossly exaggerated. Capt. Ringk's official report, Agent Schwab said, stated that the Fulda struck the schooner in a dense fog, carrying away the bowsprit. This was all the damage that was done. The schooner Hall was not touched. The passengers on deck of the steamer at the time grew excited and threw a number of life preservers overboard, but this precaution was unnecessary. The cause of the accident according to the captain's statement was the neglect of the fisherman to sound its bells during the fog.

THE GALLOWS.

Two of New Jersey's Worst Criminals Executed.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 18.—Henry Ebert, the wife murderer, was hanged in the jail this morning. When the trap was sprung the knot slipped around under the jaw and disarranged the cap, so that Ebert's face was exposed to view as he slowly strangled to death. Ebert married his wife, who was a widow, to possess himself of $1,500 which her first husband had bequeathed to the woman's child. Ebert failed in his object to get possession of the money, and then had his wife put in the insane asylum for the same purpose, and when she was released he shot her dead as she was entering their home. A pretended attempt to immediately kill himself was bootless, if, as is probably the case, he expected thereby to create sympathy.

FREEHOLD, N. J., July 18.—Richard Kearney was hanged here to-day. He was the coachman who attempted a criminal assault on Mrs. Purcell, and was employed by the wealthy Lyddy family at Elberon. Kearney was foiled by his victim, but he beat her so savagely that she died of her injuries.

CHAIRMEN'S GATHERING.

Destruction of Property and Lawless Acts Condemned.

CHICAGO, July 18.—Over one hundred and fifty chairman of different Engineers and Firemen's Grievance Committees met here to-day, nearly every prominent railroad in the country being represented by one or more men. A delegate stated that the Burlington strike was being discussed, and that some conclusion would be reached before final adjournment. After the first session was over resolutions were shown as having been adopted, "expressing condemnation of lawless acts and destruction of property," and adding the termination "that the exercise of the power of this organization will be used to protect the innocent."

THE PARNELL TRIBUNAL.

The Government Bill for a Committee of Investigation.

LONDON, July 18.—Following is the text of the Government bill for the appointment of a special commission to inquire into the London Times' charges against Irish members of Parliament:

WHEREAS, Charges and allegations have been made against certain members of the House of Commons and others by the defendants in the action of O'Donnell against Walter and others, it is expedient that a special commission be appointed to inquire into the truth of the charges and allegations, and that it should have such powers as may be necessary for the effectual conducting of the inquiry.

Be it therefore enacted, first, That three persons hereinafter mentioned, names not given, are hereby appointed commissioners for the purpose of this act. The commissioners shall inquire into and report upon the charges and allegations against certain members of the House of Commons and others in the action of O'Donnell against Walter and others.

Secondly, That the Commission shall, for the purposes of the inquiry, have all such powers, rights and privileges as are vested in Her Majesty's High Court of Justice, or any judge thereof, on the occasion of any action, including all the powers, rights and privileges in respect of the following matters: Enforcing the attendance of witnesses, examining them under oath, affirmation or otherwise, compelling the production of documents, punishing persons guilty of contempt. The issue of a commission or a request to examine witnesses abroad, and summons signed by one or more of the Commissioners may be substituted for and be equivalent to any formal process capable of being issued in any action for enforcing the attendance of witnesses or compelling the production of documents. A warrant of commital, issued for the purpose of enforcing the powers conferred by this section shall be signed by one or more of the Commission and shall specify the prison to which the offender shall be committed.

Thirdly, That the persons implicated in said charges and allegations, the parties to said action and any person authorized by the Commissioners, may appear at the inquiry, and any person so appearing may be represented by counsel or solicitor.

Fourthly, That every person who on examination on oath or affirmation wilfully gives false evidence shall be liable to the penalties for perjury.

Fifthly, That any witness may be cross-examined on behalf of any other person appearing before the Commissioners. A witness shall not be excused from answering any question put to him on the ground of any privilege, or on the ground that the answer may criminate or tend to criminate himself. No evidence taken under this act shall be admissible against any person in any civil or criminal proceedings, except in case the witness shall be accused of having given false evidence in the inquiry under this act.

Sixthly, That every person examined as a witness, who, in the opinion of the Commissioners, shall make a full and true disclosure and, if civil or criminal proceedings shall at any time thereafter be instituted against any such witness in respect of any matter whereon he shall be examined, the court having cognizance of the case shall, on proof of a certificate, stay proceedings, and may in its discretion award the witness such costs as he may be put to by reason of the proceedings.

AN EXPENSIVE FIRE.

A Magnificent Business Block Laid in Ashes.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The magnificent building at the northeast corner of Wabash avenue and Monroe street, caught fire to-day and burned with a loss of nearly half a million dollars. The occupants were the Chicago Carpet Company, the piano manufacturing firm of Julius Bauer & Co., and the Standard Musical Company, dealers in musical instruments other than pianos. The fire was preceded by a terrific explosion in the basement.

Almost instantly the whole of the basement was on fire. The dozen workmen there rushed up the stairway. So great was the confusion and narrow the escape, that some of the workmen believe part of their number were caught and burned to death. Janitor James Mahony is missing. Incendiarism is suspected on the part of a porter discharged recently by Bauer & Co. The insurance on the building was $75,000.

The Chicago Carpet Company's loss is about $70,000, of which $50,000 is a total loss, as there was an uninsured stock valued at the sum just received from New York. Bauer's stock was valued at $150,000 and was entirely destroyed. The stock was insured, but the amount of insurance was not obtainable. The Standard Musical Company's loss is about $23,000.

Association Dissolved.

PITTSBURG, July 18.—The Western Iron Manufacturers Association was formally dissolved to-day. Members of the Association who have not signed the Amalgamated scale were absolved from all pledges, and authorized to act in their individual capacity regarding the starting of their works. A general resumption will probably take place in a few days.

California Fruits.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The prices of California fruits at auction to-day were as follows: Plums, $1.20 to $1.35; German prunes, $1.20 to $1.45. The four cars catalogued were sold, the other three cars not arriving on time. Prices were about the same as yesterday with the exception of peaches, which ran 5 cents higher.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Fanny Davenport Price, the actress, has been granted an absolute divorce by Judge Barrett, of the Supreme Court, from her husband, Henry Price. The decree was filed June 8th.

A CALIFORNIA DISCOVERY.

The parasites, of which we give cut below, discovered by us, are the direct cause of Catarrh and Consumption, also many other diseases.

Magnified 500 Times.

Imagine millions of these animalcule in the nose, throat and lungs, as well as the minute eustachian tubes leading from the back part of the throat to the middle ear, and you will imagine the misery they can produce. Thousands are swallowed when the patient is asleep, causing kidney and liver trouble, headache, blood poison, general debility, etc. We have a specific for destroying them and expelling the poison from the blood. Use the CALIFORNIA POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE ELECTRIC COUCH AND CONSUMPTION CURE to take and the CALIFORNIA POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE ELECTRIC LINIMENT to apply, and if the stomach is bad, use the CALIFORNIA POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE ELECTRIC SYSTEM BUILDER it builds up the system and purifies the poisoned blood. They are manufactured from roots, herbs and flowers that grow in California, and are safe for children. They never fail. HOLLENBECK BLOCK,

Cor. Second and Spring Sts., Los Angeles, Cal.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by the most improved Medical Inhalations, combined with proper constitutional remedies, for the liver stomach, blood, etc. We are also now using the Compound Oxygen treatment which has such a world-wide reputation in lung and nervous affections.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Over 80,000 cases treated during the past twenty-one years.

CATARRH.

The term Catarrh is applied to a peculiar disorder of the nostrils and adjacent parts, which prevails to an alarming extent, and is productive of very serious consequences.

The most prominent and characteristic feature is a morbid discharge from the head, varying in its nature at different times. In some there is an almost constant flow of clear, acrid fluid, but oftener an offensive, purulent, or muco-purulent, greenish-yellow matter is secreted, which accumulates in the nostrils or drops into the throat, necessitating its frequent removal by blowing the nose or expectoration, and often by both processes. Sometimes patients feel as though their whole head was in a state of rottenness, so great is the amount of matter discharged and so fetid is its odor. The patient is greatly annoyed by the constant dropping into the throat of the morbid matter from the head, and as a recumbent position naturally favors the flow downward, his rest is frequently disurbed from this cause. Many sufferers are obliged to lie with the head very much elevated in order to sleep with some degree of comfort.

In others, a tough, viscid and offensive phlegm collects behind and above the soft palate, in the passage between the throat and head, adhering to the parts with gluish tenacity. Its lodgement embarrasses respiration and creates a sensation of irritation and unessiness in the affected locality, which gives rise to a constant and almost irresistible desire to relieve the discomfort by drawing the mucus into the throat, so as to eject it by the mouth. This practice, popularly known as "hawking," is characteristic of catarrh, and proves as embarrassing to the one affected as it is disagreeable to those around him.

Again, the offensive matter hardens and deposits itself on the membrane in the shape of dry, hard concretions, which are discharged by way of the nostrils or throat in lumps or fragments of a deep green tint. In some cases these incrustrations accumulate to such an extent as to form a regular plug in the nose, which obstructs breathing and produces serious discomfort. So firmly do these incrustations adhere to the point of attachment that their removal usually requires the most violent efforts; not unfrequently they have to be torn from the membrane. Occasionally a solid cast of notable size is expelled, on which there are generally traces of blood, but in some cases the cast presents a tubular appearance, being of exact shape of the nasal cavity. This condition is indicative of ulceration, which, in time may destroy the bony structure of the nose and produce a subsequent flattening of that organ.

Cases are occasionally met with in which a thick, viscid, slimy secretion coats the membrane of the nasal cavities, and then putrifies, giving rise to a stench which is really overpowering and sufficiently fetid to poison the atmosphere of a whole room; and there are others in which all the secretions of the membrane are suspended, causing an unpleasant feeling of dryness, heat and feverishness in the head and nose—a condition popularly known as "Dry Catarrh."

The disease speedily extends to the air cavities of the bones of the forehead and face, giving rise to a distressing sensation of heavy weight or compression over the forehead, especially in the region above and between the eyes, and to a feeling of fullness, heat, irritation, soreness, or pain in the nostrils near the root of the nose, as well as in the upper part of the throat, above and behind the soft palate. Sometimes there is pain obstinately fixed in some particular part, as in the temple, on the top of the head, at the back of the neck, or behind the orbits, and occasionally pain manifests itself in the face of so severe a character that it is frequently mistaken for neuralgia.

The breath is always tainted, and at times assumes an exceedingly fetid and sickening odor. In some cases it becomes so revoltingly offensive as to render the sufferer an object of disgust to himself as well as to others.

The nasal membrane is thickened and congested, causing the nose to be stopped up, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other, and often on both, giving rise to a disagreeable, stuffy sensation in the head, and occasioning violent and prolonged paroxysms of sneezing.

The voice is weak, indistinct and husky, or of a nasal character, displaying a sort of sniffing quality. Oftentimes there is a continuous hoarseness and discordance. There is also a sense of irritation in the throat, and frequent attempts to clear the parts of phlegm, producing the sound "nem," more or less forcibly. In some cases patients complain of an uncomfortable feeling of fullness, or a choky sensation in the throat, and in others of a distressing and almost constant dryness for the temporary relief of which they have to swallow frequently. Others, again, speak of a constant bad or nauseous taste in the mouth or throat.

The stomach generally suffers more or less, and becomes weak and irritable, the appetite is capricious, and nearly always bad in the morning. The patient is languid, unable to perform mental or physical labor with the usual facility, is nervous, depressed in spirits, at times fearful, timid, agitated and inclined to drowsiness and sleep, the memory weakened and permanent impairment seriously threatened.

The mucuous membrane soon becomes morbidly sensitive to unfavorable influences, and in spite of the utmost care becomes affected from the slightest causes, so that a breath of wind upon the linings of the nose or throat, becomes productive of a cold, and gives rise to serious disturbances of the respiratory organs. Thus the patient is subject to frequent and repeated colds, each attack aggravating the disease by giving it a new impulse, and involving a larger extent of surface than its predecessor. In this manner the difficulty spreads from organ to organ, invading the throat, larnyx, trachea and bronchial tubes, until, encroaching further and further, it reaches the finer ramifications of the bronchi, when but a slight impulse is required to send it to the lungs. Catarrh may, and often does, affect other organs in the body, especially those containing a mucous membrane, such as the stomach, bowels, kidneys, etc.

By the employment of proper inhalations and Compound Oxygen treatment in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the larnyx and the nasal passages, for air will find its way into the remotest and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at his rooms as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance from business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless, unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing can do with the same success.

The very best reference from those already cured.

EXCHANGE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The stock market was again more active to-day, and while somewhat irregular and at times feverish, the prices were well maintained and moderate. Gains in most of the list were the result of the day's operations. The petroleum market opened firm at 81¼c., and after a slight decline, advanced to 81⅛c. A sharp decline was then caused by Western selling, on which the price fell to 80⅞c., when a decided improvement was recorded and the market closed strong at 81⅞c.

Whereas, an assessment of one dollar per share on the assessable capital stock of this company was duly levied on the fourth day of May, 1888, and, whereas, the publication of the notice of such assessment, and of the time when it would be payable and when it became delinquent, and the date of the sale of delinquent stock, was not properly made, and there was a substantial error in the course of the proceedings for the collection of the same, whereby all the proceedings, except the levy of the assessment, became void; and, whereas, the Board of Directors made an order making the said assessment payable to E. F. Spence, the Treasurer of the Company, at the First National Bank of Los Angeles, at Los Angeles city, on or before the 6th day of August, 1888, and also fixing the 15th day of August, 1888, as the day on which all assessments unpaid should become delinquent, and the 5th day of September, 1888, as the day of sale of delinquent stock. Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Directors held on the 4th day of May, 1888, an assessment of one dollar per share was levied upon the assessable capital stock of the corporation, and said assessment is payable on or before the 6th day of August, 1888, to E. AMUSEMENTS.

The Last Night of "Fedora" at the Grand.

The third good house of the week sat last night to enjoy Miss Davenport's Fedora. Heretofore her acting has been the theme of comment in these columns, and while of course that is the main attraction it is quite safe to say that at least with that portion of the audience made up of the fair sex the beautiful costumes and the wealth of jewels rare worn by the star formed no unimportant adjunct to the intellectual treat. The staging too is remarkably fine. The habitues of Los Angeles' lovely Thespian temple are more than delighted with the new scenery in which Fedora has been produced. The tapestry scene is particularly fine. All the "properties" used in Fedora belong to the house. But to-night there is to be a great change wrought in the spirit of our dramatic dreams. Fedora is to disappear from the boards and all should see Miss Davenport as La Tosca. The audience is to be transferred from Russia to Italy, and instead of the fierce Slav blood which courses in "Fedora's" veins we will watch the more languid current which flows in the veins of a daughter of Italy. For this play all the superb scenery of Miss Davenport's own company is brought here. It is really magnificent and will add to the enjoyment of the play in no small degree.

"Fedora" will again appear on Saturday at the matinee, but at all the other performances of the week the attraction will be La Tosca.

"Our Angel."

The first performance of Our Angel by Miss Lizzie Evans and her company at the Pavilion last night was witnessed by an audience vastly improved in numbers on the preceding nights. The piece ran smoothly and entertained the onlookers to a satisfactory degree, as was evident by the enthusiasm that prevailed. Miss Evans is the soul of the whole affair and throws considerable vivacity into her acting, from which cause she doubtless received her soubriquet of "the electric battery." The same piece will be given to-night.

A Coming Attraction.

The celebrated Rentz-Santley troupe will hold the boards at the Pavilion next week and will present that well known musical and Terpsichorean entertainment. The company carries some of the best novelty artists in the profession and has the good fortune to number "Sara" in its caste, whose reputation is known both in this country and in Europe. She claims to be the highest female kicker on earth, and her dancing is novelly described as a "Terpsichorean Cyclone."

LOS ANGELES STREET.

Probability That It Will Be Speedily Opened.

The City Council on Monday took action looking toward the early completion of the opening of Los Angeles street. It will be remembered that some months since the Street Superintendent removed several old buildings facing on Negro alley and standing in the way of the proposed street from Aliso street to Marchessault. When the building belonging to Mrs. Bigelow was reached an injunction was issued stopping the work, Mrs. Bigelow refusing to allow her building to be removed until paid the $12,000 she claimed as payment for the same. The city at this time alleged that it was not to pay her $12,000, but was to deduct from that sum an amount claimed to be due from her on the property, and pay her the remainder. The matter was taken into Court and it was stated on Monday that the Court had decided that the city must pay the $12,000 to her before the building could be touched, and that what she owed on other property was not to be considered. The matter rested in this condition for some time, and a short time since Mrs. Bigelow commenced active operations toward the completion of the building on the lot. By the advice of her attorneys she stopped the work to give the city a chance to pay the money over, and on Monday last the Council expressed a determination to pay the money and open the street. It was stated that some money had been paid to the County Clerk and some money was in the city treasury for this purpose, and in order to ascertain just how much additional would have to be transferred to the fund, the matter was referred to the Finance Committee to report upon next Monday, when it is probable that the whole proceedings will be concluded. It is is anticipated that a short time hence teams may be driven in a straight line from Aliso street to Alameda on Los Angeles street.

London Wool Sales.

LONDON, July 18.—The present series of wool sales closed to-day; competition was exceedingly active although there was a much thinner attendance. Eleven thousand and twenty-nine hundred bales were offered; the total that passed under the hammer during the series was 330,757 bales, over half of which was taken for export, including about 3,000 bales for America, mostly Australian. As compared with May, Australia greasy combing and better classes of scoured advanced ½d. to 1d. Other kinds were unchanged except cross-breds, which in response to the lower prices for English wool fell ½d. to 1d. Superior Cape, snow whiter, were ½d. higher. Natal greasy, although less marked, made a similar advance, otherwise cheap wools were at par. The fourth series of sales will open September 18th. The quantity to be offered for sale will not be limited.

A High Tariff Hoax.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The annual meeting of the Window Glass Manufacturers' Association was held here to-day. The past year had, according to President Bodine's report brought the lowest priced foreign product ever known here. Official reports say that the last four years' imports, in this trade, of foreign products are over a million boxes beyond the preceding four years under the old and high tariff. The increase in revenue to the Government thereby has been $1,250,000. The glassmen say if the Mills bill is passed it will close up their industry.

Turtle Doves in Flight.

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—A telegram from Topeka this morning to the Post-Dispatch says the whereabouts of Moore is still unknown; another dispatch to the same paper from St. Joseph, Mo, says a gentleman and lady registered at the Union Depot hotel last night as F. Gratz and lady. This morning the man was recognized as Moore, and he finally admitted his identity, and said Mrs. Norton was with him, but would not talk about their affairs. They went East on the Hannibal and St. Joe railroad this morning.

A Settlement Desired.

GALESBURG, Ill., July 18.—Stewart E. Hoge, Joseph Murphy and J. A. Hall, of the strikers' Grievance Committee, who arrived here to-day left for Burlington this afternoon. At a meeting of the strikers they introduced the subject of discontinuing the strike and urged it. Sentiment was unanimously in favor of a settlement if reasonable terms could be had. At another meeting the strikers voted unanimously against leaving the settlement of the strike to Chiefs Arthur and Sargent.

Eastern Echoes.

General Sheridan passed a good day, showing decided evidence of increasing mental activity and nerve force.

Randall received a number of callers during the day and night, and he continues to hold the improvement noted in his condition Wednesday morning.

During the session of the National Cigar Manufacturers' Association at New York Wednesday, steps were taken to establish an annual tobacco exposition, open to all branches.

Judge J. W. H. Underwood, ex-Member of Congress and member of the Tariff Commission appointed by President Arthur, dropped dead at Rome, Ga., Wednesday morning, of heart disease.

A Fortunate Druggist.

Mr. Edwin W. Joy for many years and now a prosperous druggist on the corner of Stockton and Market streets in San Francisco, probably never dreamed of rivaling in wealth the medicine kings of the country. But various rumors having been floating around to the effect that he has struck it big, an Examiner reporter was detailed to unearth the cause, and after much difficulty unravelled the following story:

It seems that about seven years ago an English physician, a great student of botany located for a brief season in this city. His practice was not extensive, and yet the few cases of a general nature that came to him attracted no little attention. His greatest success seemed to be in the treatment of liver and kidney disorders, and vitiated blood. In fact his ability to cope with these common complaints was little short of the marvelous. He seemed almost infallible, and his quiet, modest methods and his well kept secret was as much a mystery as himself. After his departure about a year later Mr. Joy determined to fathom the secret, and copying all the prescriptions he had filled for the erratic doctor, he began a systematic analysis. In his examination he discovered running all through the prescriptions for liver and kidney troubles, vitiated blood and stomach disorders a couple of vegetable extracts indigenous to California, so simple and so well known under homely every day names to every school boy as to entirely dissipate the suspicion that they were the active principles involved. So certain, however, was Mr. Joy that he had discovered the secret that he embodied the new elements in a preparation of Sarsaparilla to disguise the taste, and put it before his customers under the modest name of Joy's Vegetable Sarsapapilla. Immediately the same marvelous stories came back of its astonishing effects, and the mystery was solved, and the talk it has created has already caused it to step into prominence, and orders pour in daily from all over the coast. People seem to be taking it and writing and talking about it throughout the State. And thus another California industry leaps into existence.—S. F. Examiner.

To the Public.

The Bituminons Lime Rock Paving and Improvement Company take this opportunity of informing the citizens and property owners of this city that the pavemeht laid on Main street between First and Third streets is not Bituminous Lime Rock, but is an artificial mixture and not laid by the company. We make this announcement for the purpose of disabusing the minds of those who entertain the belief that this pavement was laid by this company and are disposed to criticise our material as being soft and not suitable for the streets of this city. The only Bituminous Lime Rock Pavement here was laid by this company, and extends on Main street from south line of Third to Ninth street, and on Spring street from Temple to Ninth streets. Bituminous Lime Rock does not become soft and mushy under the heat of the sun, but always remains firm and elastic. We have already laid on the streets of this city about five hundred square feet of this pavement to which we take pleasure in inviting inspection. Very Respectfully yours,

BITUMINOUS LIME ROCK PAVING AND IMPROVEMENT CO.
J. A. FAIRCHILD, General Manager.
